TRUCE SOUGHT IN NEUTRALITY LAW DISPUTES

LENDING PROGRAM ALSO AWAITS DECISION

Washington, July 17 (AP)—Senator Barkley of Kentucky, administration leader in the senate, announced tonight that he had sounded out the Republican leadership of the chamber on the idea of attending a bi-partisan conference at the White House to discuss the neutrality law controversy.

The Republicans, it was made known, expressed willingness to attend such a conference. Senator McNary (R-Ore) the minority floor leader, began polling his colleagues so that he would have something official to tell the president about their attitude toward the administration's neutrality law revision bill, which the senate foreign relations committee has locked up until the next session of congress.

Suggested by Roosevelt?

Barkley disclosed that he had talked with McNary and with Senator Austin (R-Vt), the assistant Republican leader, about such a conference. He said he "asked them if they would be willing to go to the White House and talk the situation over with the president, if such a course became desirable."

The Barkley statement left still indefinite the question whether the conference actually would be held.

Some Senators had been under the impression that the initiative for the conference had come from President Roosevelt himself and that the meeting was definitely to be held tomorrow or Wednesday. However, at the White House a presidential secretary said there were no plans to reecive a congressional delegation but that if one wished to come and would make that fact known, the door would be open.

In answer to reporters' questions, Barkley said he could not remember whether the idea of such a conference had been discussed at a conference between the president and Democratic leaders this morning.

Solons Impatient

The Kentuckian merely said that he and other administration leaders went over the neutrality situation carefully with the president, discussing all possible methods of getting the legislation out of its pigeon hole in the committee and onto the senate floor.

While they talked, many at the Capitol waited impatiently for the discussion to bring some indication of when congress might adjourn. However, Barkley and his colleagues said that not only had a decision still to be reached on neutrality but that the leadership would call for enactment, in some form, of the administration's new $2,800,000,000 lending program.

The Capitol's adjournment predicters, who had been saying the session would end on July 29, nevertheless continued to say so, but with the added expression of a possibility that it might last a week longer than that. Despite the statements of the leadership, very few see any chance that the neu-

Dickinson Discusses Return of Prohibition

Lansing, July 17 (AP)—Governor Dickinson discussed prospects today for a return of prohibition in Michigan, on the heels of his attack upon what he said was liquor drinking and "high life" at the recent national conference of governors.

The 80-year-old chief executive, who is the retiring president of the Anti-Saloon League of Michigan, said he was "inclined to believe there is sentiment for prohibition, but the people don't realize what they have to bump up against."

He aded he might invite churches of Michigan to join him in a campaign to outlaw liquor by constitutional referendum, the exercise of local option or otherwise, but that "it sin't for me to bump my head against a wall." He said he would provide temperances forces with a full statement of his views.

Women Drinking

Dickinson softened a previous statement that he was thinking of making prohibition an issue in 1940. He emphasized that he did not want that statement interpreted as meaning he has decided to run for governor next year.

He said he had no illusions that prohibition could be obtained by an immediate referendum, but that sentiment might spread rapidly.

"People are thinking," he added. "They are drinking more than they ever did before. They see women and girls drinking."

The governor said his public assertion that he saw women drinking "at every hand" at the conference of governors in Albany N. Y., was released after "careful thought and consideration and observations."

He continued:

"It was only after careful comparison with entertainment that I had received in 36 states, 60 cities of over 100,000 population and 800 hotels that I unhesitatingly said that we saw more drinking by women by far than ever before and the urging of young girls so to do."

Governors "Scared Out"

Dickinson said he received several letters commending him for his criticism, two written protests. He said he had read printed statements describing his hosts, governors and other guests at the conference as having been incensed by his charges.

"I never had a better sleep than last night," he observed.

The governor said he understood the Anti-Saloon league contemplated an educational program to be followed by more vigorous attempts to extend prohibition by local option.

Dickinson said he had received no reply to his invitation to the governor's conference to meet next year on swanky Mackinac Island, in Michigan's Straits of Mackinac. "I've probably scared them out, now," he added with a grin.

DONAHUE KEEPS HIS STATE JOB

Attorney General Rules In Civil Service Patronage Fight

Lansing, July 17. (AP)—Attorney General Thomas Read held today Edwin J. Donahue, of Niles, may continue as a de facto member of the civil service commission, although the legislature failed to confirm his appointment.

In a previous opinion to Governor Dickinson Read said the fact a senate committee withheld Donahue's name from the senate for confirmation did not constitute a veto of his appointment, which would have disqualified him from further consideration for that position.

The legislators had blocked Donahue's confirmation, accusing him openly of having encroached on their patronage privileges in southwestern Michigan, particularly in Berrien county.

Dickinson indicated Donahue would continue to serve on a day-to-day basis, and that he was not certain whether to grant Donahue's foes a hearing. He said he wanted to determine whether there actually was "an uprising" against the commissioner in Berrien county.

The First Baptist church, scene of the ceremony, was thronged.

PROGRESS MADE IN GM WALKOUT

Conciliator Sees Early Settlement of Tool and Die Strike

Detroit, July 17. (AP)—Federal Conciliator James F. Dewey expressed hope today for early settlement of the General Motors tool and die workers' strike, reporting that negotiators for the corporation and the CIO United Automobile Workers were "getting down to fundamentals."

"It ought not to take many more hours or days to complete discussions," he said.

Approximately 7,000 G. M. employes have been made idle by the walkouts of skilled workers which began July 5 in an attempt by the UAW-CIO to enforce a demand for a supplementary agreement covering wages, hours and working conditions.

Tool and die departments of eleven General Motors plants, in Detroit, Pontiac and Saginaw, Mich., and Cleveland, O., have been affected. Union leaders announced today that eight of the eleven plants made no attempt to operate tool and die departments today, and described the strike as "completely effective." It is aimed at preparatory work on the corporation's 1940 model automobiles.

Lighthouse Tender Amaranth Worker Is Fatally Injured

Houghton, Mich., July 17 (AP)—Injuries suffered Sunday while working aboard the U. S. lighthouse tender Amaranth proved fatal today for Robert D. Bergmarker, 27, of Duluth.

Bergmarker, Marvin O. Wollan of Bayfield, Wis., and Raymond Winberg, of Sault Ste. Marie, were loading machinery from the tender to a scow at the Rock of Ages light near Isle Royale in Lake Superior. The machinery slipped, pinning the three against the tender. Wollan suffered several fractured ribs and a fractured right Fibula, but Winberg escaped with a slight wound.

Later the scow capsized and dumped the machinery into the lake.

Ironwood (AP)—David Pierpont, 22, died Monday of injuries suffered Sunday in an automobile accident in which his brother, James, 20, was killed.

NATIONAL WPA STRIKE ENDED; AFL PROTESTS

CUTTING PAYROLLS 300,000 NEXT PROBLEM

(By The Associated Press)

Except in a few scattered communities, notably in Minnesota and Pennsylvania, the WPA strike appeared last night to be at an end.

Works projects officials in half a dozen affected states reported virtually all the protestants against the new wage regulations back on the job, except for those who have found other work, or had been dismissed for being absent five consecutive days.

Lieut. Col. Brehon Somervell, New York City WPA administrator, expressed the general attitude of most state WPA heads by saying, "Forget the strike. I've forgotten it. We have a real problem on our hands now."

Congress Can't Help

The problem he referred to is that of making a 300,000 cut in the rolls by August 1. About 75,000 are to be dropped in New York City September 1 under this cut and under the new act's provision for a 30-day furlough for those who have been on the rolls 18 consecutive months.

In Washington, American Federation of Labor officials called on congressional leaders to urge restoration of the prevailing wage on WPA projects, but received no promises and most congress members agreed that there was virtually no chance that the new relief act would be changed at this session.

William Green, AFL president, said the union officials were "neither encouraged nor discouraged" in their talks with Capitol Hill leaders.

Walkout No Remedy

He related, however, that Speaker Bankhead and Majority Leader Rayburn (D-Texas) suggested that the group call on members of the house appropriations committee, and that from previous conversations with Chairman Taylor (D-Col) of this committee and Rep. Woodrum (D-Va), chairman of a sub-committee which handled the WPA bill, "we got the idea there was no chance."

Accompanying Green to the capitol were Hary Bates, president of the Bricklayers and Masons; George Q. Lynch, president of the Pattern Makers; John P. Frye, president of the Metal Trades department, and I. N. Ornburn, secretary of the Union Labor Trades.

The group also called on Vice-President Garner. Green said the Texan told them that we was the senate's presiding officer and made it a rule not to interfere with the legislative program. The AFL leader added:

"I gained the impression he felt there would be great diffculty in getting anything through con-

HARLAN RIOTERS LAND IN COURT

Total of 260 Persons Arrested After Mine Gun Battle

Harlan, Ky., July 17 (AP)—Soldiers herded 260 men and women—arrested after a gun battle between union coal mine pickets and national guardsmen last week—into court today and a circuit judge passed the cases along to a special grand jury meeting July 25.

Each of those arraigned was charged with "banding and confederating," an all-inclusive Kentucky charge, but George Titler, Secretary-treasurer of the Harlan district of the CIO United Mine Workers of America, also was charged with sedition, forcible rebellion and attack on national guardsmen.

Two men have died and six others were injured in the skirmish preceding the mass arrests.

Attorneys conferred with Circuit Judge James M. Gilbert for a long time today prior to his ruling that the cases should go to the grand jury he called last week.

Judge Gilbert ordered 225 of the defendants to post bond of $500 each and then released them on their word. However, 34 others were required to post bail of $2,000 each and Titler's bond was set at $8,000. All these were furnished by private individuals. Titler when released left immediately for Knoxville, Tenn., where he expected to take part in negotiations between Harlan county operators and representatives over a "union shop" contract.

Louisiana Politicians Indicted For Frauds

New Orleans, July 17 (AP)—Seymour Weiss, New York and New Orleans hotel man and top-flight Louisiana politician, was indicted along with four others today on two counts of using the mails to defraud.

The others named were Dr. James Monroe Smith, former president of Louisiana State university, now under 24 state indictments ranging from forgery to embezzlement; Louis C. Lesage, special assistant to the president of the Standard Oil company of Louisiana; Monte E. Hart, member of a contracting firm which has done much state construction, and J. Emory Adams, nephew of Mrs. James Monroe Smith.

The indictments charged the five men split between them $75,000 obtained by defrauding Louisiana State university, the state and taxpayers in a deal involving fixtures of the Bienville hotel in New Orleans, which was purchased by the university several years ago.

The charge carries a maximum penalty of 5 years in jail and a fine of $1,000. Bond for the men was set at $10,000 each by federal Judge Wayne C. Borah.

A New Orleans hotel announced Attorney General Frank Murphy and J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, were expected here tomorrow but the department of justive in Washington said they contemplated no immediate trip.

Two United States marshals took Smith and Adams into custody in Baton Rouge and escorted them to New Orleans for arraignment on the federal charges. District Attorney Dewey Sanchez said Dr. Smith would be returned to the Baton Rouge jail.

Shortly before federal authority struck at the very top of the political organization built by the late Huey P. Long, a state grand jury in Baton Rouge heard another of the "King Fishe's" closest lieutenants, former Governor Richard Leeche, tell of the university scandal brought to light by Smith's resignation three weeks ago. Leche resigned a day later, giving ill health as the reason.

The Baton Rouge grand jury already has indicted eight persons, including Smith, Adams and Dr. Clarence Lorio, another leading state politician, charging embezzlement of university materials and funds.

HEAD OF STATE BUYING CHANGED

Governor's Friend Gets Job; Committee Wants Him Shifted

Lansing, July 17 (AP)—The purchasing committee of the state administrative board set wheels in motion today that its members hoped would lead to the appointment to a new director of state buying.

Governor Dickinson has stripped Lawrence Niendorf, secretary of the state administrative board, of his statutory authority as director of purchases and transferred his buying powers to Grant M. Hudson, a long-time friend.

It was learned that the purchasing committee, meeting behind closed doors, agreed today to ask the governor to transfer Hudson to some other department, and permit the appointment of a $7,500 a year purchasing director, who would be known technically as Niendorf's assistant, but actually would have complete charge of buying.

Niendorf now draws $5,000 a year and Hudson $4,000.

Auditor General Vernon J. Brown, chairman of the committee, declined to discuss the conference other than to say that its members "can go no farther until we have talked with the governor tomorrow."

Chief Of Air Force To Make Inspection At Selfridge Field

Mt. Clemens, Mich., July 17. (AP)—Lieut. Col. Laurence F. Stone, acting commander of the Selfridge Field air base, said today that Major General Delos C. Emmons, commanding officer, of the general headquarters air forces of the U. S. army, would fly here Wednesday noon for a two-day inspection visit.

Accompanying Major Emmons will be Brigadier General Arnold N. Krogstad, commanding officer of the second wing of the air corps with headquarters at Langley Field, Va., and their staff officers.

The high ranking officers of the air corps will inspect the facilities of the air base and review activities of the first pursuit group commanded by Major Lawrence P. Hickey.

Lieut. Col. Stone and officers of the air base will be hosts to the visitors.

Chippewa Ceremony Attracts Palefaces

Pontiac, Mich., July 17 (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Carl Mattison of Pontiac was invested as Chief Standing Bear of the Pontiac tribe of the Chippewas today in a public ceremony which attracted approximately 5,000 palefaces.

The spectators crammed into Murphy Park in such numbers that the few score Indians barely had room for their tribal dance.

The new chief is a ninth grader in Pontiac Junior high school. He catches for a sandlot nine and also plays basketball.

Young Mattison's actual rank is sub-chief. His uncle, Black Cloud, is head of the tribe. The boy succeeds his father, the late Chief Little Elk.

State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner, Wayne County Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea and Assistant U. S. District Attorney Peter Gilbert were among the guests of honor.

The Indian pow-wow continues Tuesday with a public wedding of Indians scheduled.

Britain And Poland Call War Huddle

Warsaw, July 17. (AP)—Poland gave an enthusiastic reception tonight to Major-General Sir Edmund Ironside, inspector-general of British overseas forces, who came to confer with military leaders on coordinating Poland's military strength with that of Britain and France.

Reports that General Maurice Gustave Gamelin, commander-in-chief of France's armed forces, also might visit Warsaw intensified one of Poland's fondest hopes of late—the translation of the Polish alliance with the two western powers into clear fact and action on the military side.

The greeting accorded the towering General Ironside when he landed at Warsaw airdrome after a speedy flight from London echoed jubilation expressed in the Polish press and among the Polish people generally.

In the Polish opinion, the visit of the giant British officer—he stands six feet four inches and weighs 252 pounds—answered any German belief that Britain lacked sincerity in her pledge to fight for Poland's independence.

(General Ironside's visit aroused great interest among Nazis. The Berlin newspaper Nachtausgabe said the trip showed Germany's foreign policy "is justified in every single point * * * the English play is now completely clear—Chamberlain gives Poland to a large extent the right to provoke a World War.")

General Ironside, who was recalled from the governorship of Gibraltar May 31 to become inspector-general of Britain's overseas forces, is expected to discuss with Polish leaders the best available routes by which munitions and supplies might be shipped into Poland.

ACCIDENT KILLS FIVE IN FAMILY

Kalamazoo Car Crushed Between Truck and Heavy Trailer

Kalamazoo, Mich., July 17 (AP)—A collision today between an automobile and a truck towing a heavily - laden trailer brought death to five members of a Kalamazoo family.

The dead were Floyd Remington, 51, and his wife, Verna, 49; their son and daughter-in-law, Gerald Remington, 23, and his wife, Violet, 21, and Roberta Kurtz, 21-months-old granddaughter of the Floyd Remingtons.

State police said the car, driven by Gerald Remington, struck James E. Sergeant, 36, of Kalamazoo, who was walking on US-12 a half-block west of the Paw Paw state police post.

The car, out of control, crashed into the side of the truck-trailer, which telescoped, crushing the occupants of the automobile between the truck and its cargo-laden trailer.

The only member of the Remington family to escape the crash was Leonard, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Remington, he was reported in critical condition with fractures of both legs and internal injuries.

Sergeant, struck a glancing blow by the Remington automobile, was not seriously injured, and Paul Travener, of Marcellus, Mich. driver of the truck, also escaped injury.

Injunction Is Asked To Keep Dissenting Pastor From Pulpit

Centerville, Mich., July 17 (AP)—Hearing of a suit asking that a permanent injunction be issued restraining the Rev. Lester L. Case from occupying the pulpit and parsonage of the Ninth street Methodist church of Three Rivers was continued today until Friday by Circuit Judge Theodore H. Jacobs. The Rev. Case is one of 17 dissenting Methodist Protestant ministers who have refused to recognize unification of the Methodist Protestant church and the Methodist Episcopal church into the new United Methodist church.

Port Huron Garage Mechanics Strike; Owner Goes Fishing

Port Huron, Mich., July 17 (AP)—Most of Port Huron's 21 garages closed today when 10 mechanics employed by one garage went on strike.

It was understood the mechanics demanded wage adjustments and other concessions.

One garage owner posted a sign which read:

"Gone fishing. Will be back in the fall."

WASHINGTON KNOWS WHAT IS COMING; ENVOYS HELP

BY ANDRUE BERDING

Washington, July 17 (AP)—As crisis follows crisis in Europe and Asia and the big showdown may be approaching, it becomes highly important to know how well informed the United States government is on behind-the-scenes events aboard.

Says George S. Messersmith, assistant secretary of state:

"There is reason to believe that our government is today the best-informed government of any with regard to developments in all parts of the world. This is due not only to the quality of our personnel and their diligence in the performance of their duty but also to the (government's) widely scattered offices in every part of the world."

Ears to Ground

In other words, Uncle Sam has his ear closer to the ground than John Bull, Marianne, Hitler or Mussolini. Does he? Let's see . . .

First let's go back to the Munich crisis. Significantly, every American ambassador and minister was then at his post—some had postponed their vacations. By contrast, some of the ambassadors or ministers of the interested powers were absent from their posts in Washington.

The volume of the dispatches sent to the state department by its representatives abroad was enormous. Then, as now, Ambassadors Kennedy and Bullitt had the closest contact with the British and French foreign offices. It was, and is, naturally to the interests of the British and French to keep the United States closely informed of developments in the hope this country will pursue parallel policy.

Information Passed On

Time and again Kennedy has been called in by Chamberlain or Halifax immediately after an important cabinet meeting or an outstanding move has been decided upon and told about it. Secretary Hull knew of Chamberlain's decision to fly to Germany and plead with Hitler for peace before the prime minister told parliament about it.

Access to information in Rome and Berlin is infinitely more limited, and the Unied States does not have the elaborate foreign secret service that Great Britain possesses. But there is reason to believe that a good deal of the information which British and French agents obtain in Germany and Italy is passed on to the state department.

Bus Sliced In Two By Train, Five Dead

Joliet, Ill., July 17. (AP)—A passenger train rammed a bus at a crossing near Elwood today, killing the five occupants of the demolished motor vehicle.

The victims were A. J. Gadberry, about 65, driver of the bus; his son, Ray, 35; Ray's wife, Alice, 25; their daughter, Peggy, 5; and Miss Bertha McQueen, about 65. All were residents of Wilmington, Ill.

Gadberry, driving a seven-passenger automobile he had converted into a bus, was enroute from Wilmington to Joliet. He left the main highway to enter Elwood, nine miles south of here. Just as the bus rolled across the tracks it was struck and cut in two by the Alton Limited of the Alton railroad.

Majority leader Barkley of Kentucky, suggested a conference of Democratic and Republican leaders with President Roosevelt to discuss neutrality legislation and a possible adjournment date for congress.

Secretary Morgenthau and Jesse H. Jones, administrator of the new federal loan agency, urged congress to act at this session on a bill for a $2,800,000,000 lending program for self-liquidating projects.

The senate passed, 46 to 28, a bill to prohibit block booking and blind selling of motion pictures.

American Federation of Labor leaders conferred with Speaker Bankhead (D-Ala) and Vice President Garner about restoration of the prevailing wage for skilled workers on WPA projects.

AGED SPALDING WOMAN KILLED

Door Handle of Escanaba Car Strikes Mrs. Thomas Bryson

Menominee, Mich., July 17—Mrs. Thomas Bryson, 75, Spalding farm woman, was fatally injured at 8:40 o'clock last night on US-41 when she was struck by a car driven by Cheever Buckbee, 512 Lake Shore Drive, Escanaba.

A door handle on the coach driven by Buckbee struck the aged woman in the left side of the head, penetrating her skull. The handle was broken off the car and was later found on the highway near the accident scene.

Buckbee rushed the woman in his car to Pinecrest sanatorium at Powers. She died a few minutes after being admitted to the operating room.

Inquest Ordered

A coroner's jury and Coroner Albert Larson were to view the body at Escanaba today, and an inquest will be conducted here tomorrow, Prosecutor Michael J. Anuta reported.

The accident occurred one mile east of Spalding on US-41 in front of the Bryson farm. Mr. and Mrs. Bryson were crossing the highway after visiting their son, Dave, whose farm is located opposite the Bryson farm. Bryson is 81 years old.

Buckbee, driver of the car, reported to Deputy Sheriff John Reindl, that he was driving toward Escanaba, the second in a string of five cars. He was going about 40 or 45 miles an hour, he said.

Were Crossing Highway

The Brysons started to cross the road from the south, Buskbee reported. He told officers that he swerved to avoid hitting them, but that the woman was farther out in the road and was struck. Bryson reached out as if to pull Mrs. Brystno back just before the accident, Buckbee told Reindl.

Buckee said that he was driving with his lights on but that he did not see the aged couple until they stepped into the path of the car about 15 feet in front of him. Buckbee swerved toward the center of the highway and then back to avoid colliding with an oncoming car, Deputy Reindl said Buckbee told him.

Bryson was not struck by the car and escaped unhurt, officers said.

Thomas Jonas, 1114 Fourth avenue south, Escanaba, driver of another car, was listed by officers as a witness of the accident.

Riding in the Buckbee car were Mrs. Buckbee and Cheever D. Buckbee, Jr., their son.

MOTHER OF ESCANABANS

Mrs. Bryson was born December 10, 1864, at Ottawa, Canada, and lived in Spalding for the past 51 years. She was a member of St. Anne's Altar society of St. Francis Xavier church in that village.

Surviving are the husband, Thomas J. Bryson; sons and daughters, Jesse, Arthur and Alice of Escanaba; Thomas, George, David and Mrs. James Paquette of Spalding; Mrs. Ciel Dearhammar and Mrs. David Mercier of Chicago; Mrs. Roy Waldo of Carney, and Mrs. Hershel Freeman of Milford, Ill.; sisters, Mrs. Rosaline Ducharm of Niagara, Wis., and Mrs. Louis Bouchard of Powers.

The body was taken to the Allo Funeral Home and returned to the family residence yesterday. Funeral services will be held on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Francis Xavier church, in Spalding, Rev. Fr. Nolin McKeavitt officiating with burial in the Spalding cemetery.

Freak Mishap Takes Arm Of Rock Driver On Ishpeming Road

Ishpeming, Mich., July 17. (AP)—The left arm of Leo Kulkki, of Rock, employed in a butcher shop here, was amputated above the elbow in the Ishpeming hospital today as the result of a freak accident near Covington last night.

Kulkki was driving toward Ishpeming and his left elbow extended several inches outside the front window of his car. A truck passed and some object protruding from the truck struck his elbow and smashed it to an extent that made ambutation of the arm necessary. There was not a scratch on the side of the car.

gress this session."

Asked if Garner said anything about the strikes, Green replied: "All of us deplore that—the strikes. That's the reason we are here appealing to congress. The remedy is here; not in strikes."

The AFL group also conferred with Senator Murray (D-Mont) who told reporters later that his statement of Saturday should not be taken to mean he would not press at this session for action on his bill to repeal the 130-hour provision.

Murray's statement had said he and senators backing his bill had agreed that the present was an "inopportune" time to press for action and that the strikes were "embarrassing" their efforts.

The Montanan said yesterday that he still was hopeful of action at this session.

Rep. Sabath (D-Ill), who has introduced a similar bill in the house, said he had not had opportunity to talk with other house members and had not decided what he would do about his measure.

The requirement that WPA employes work 130 hours a month to earn their security wage led to the strikes. It had the effect of reducing the hourly pay of skilled workers.

In Pennsylvania, where a strike of AFL workers on WPA propects became operative today, two projects were closed. WPA officials said others operated normally and that only 766 were absent from 12 of the 41 projects in Philadelphia. They added that 501 of 15,725 WPA workers in Pittsburgh were absent.

James L. McDevitt ,president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, declared, however, that these figures were "ridiculous." He added that there would be "no disorder—no rough tactics" in the strike.

Michigan Normal

All but a few minor projects in Minneapolis were closed. Governor Harold Stassen was attempting through conferences with labor representatives to reach a solution of the strikes.

The situation elsewhere, as reported by WPA officials, included:

Michigan—All workers back on job.

Indiana—Strike "practically over, only few workers still out."

New Jersey—1,309 striking; 75,700 working; 724 discharged.

Buffalo—Workers back on job. Local Workers Alliance says it will not join in national-stop-work holiday proposed for Thursday.

Montana—Great Falls workers voted 235 to return to work under protest, 60 to return uncondtiionally and 51 not to return.

Washington—All workers back on job.

Northern California—Most back at work.

Oregon—WPA "action committee" approves participation in protest demonstrations Thursday, but says it is not to be a strike.

Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine and Rhode Island—None out.

Massachusetts—All strikers back at work except few who got private employment and 38 Boston hoisting engineers who were dropped.

COMISKEY ILL, GIVEN OXYGEN

President of White Sox Stricken While At Summer Home

Eagle River, Wis., July 17 (AP)—Oxygen was being administered tonight to J. Louis Comiskey, president of the Chicago White Sox baseball club, critically ill since a cold developed into more serious complications last Friday.

Comiskey's attending physician, Dr. Russell Oldfield, reported tonight, however, that he was "brighter" and that there was "some hope."

Members of his family were at the bedside in the summer home where his father, Charles Comiskey, the "Old Roman," died October 26, 1931.

His condition was reported aggravated by heart trouble, with which he has been afflicted for several years. He has been under his physician's care constantly since 6 a. m. today, when he took a turn for the worse. He is 54.

Manitowoc Fliers Killed In Crackup; Two Critically Hurt

Manitowoc, Wis., July 17 (AP)—Edward J. Nelson, 53, Manitowoc, a private pilot and official of the Plumb-Nelson Grocery company which has an office at Ludington, Mich., and Orlie Schmidt, 18, Manitowoc high school athlete, were killed late yesterday when Nelson's airplane crashed as he took off from the airport here. The motor faltered at about 100 feet, witnesses said. Two other youths were injured critically. They were Emil Opichka, 18, and Eugene Schmatz, 19, both of Manitowoc county.

County Posts $500 Reward For Arrest In Oak Park Crime

Pontiac, Mich., July 17 (AP)—The Oakland county board of supervisors today posted a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who killed Henry S. Becker, Oak Park manufacturer, last May 26.

Becker's wife, Juliette, 39, and the forman of his plant, Ernest Hawkins, 42, await trial during the September term of circuit court on charges of conspiring to kill him. Both posted bonds of $15,000. They have repeatedly asserted they are innocent.

Bad Fire Sweeps Jackson Building

JJackson, Mich., July (AP)—The top three floors of the five-story downtown Carter building were ruined tonight by fire which apparently started in an elevator shoft.

No estimate of the loss was immediately available.

Fire shot through the roof and illuminated the downtown area.

The building houses various business and professional concerns. Two meetings were in progress when the fire was discovered but participants reached the street safely. One was a gathering of insurance men, the other of American Legionnaires.

Adrian Banker Held For False Entries Faces Federal Jury

Detroit, July 17 (AP)—Assistant District Attorney Thomas P. Thornton today cancelled the examination of Walter P. Jacobs, former president of the National bank of Adrian who is charged with making a false entry in the bank's ledgers, and decided instead to present his evidence to the federal grand jury.

Jacobs has been held in the county jail here unable to raise $50,000 bond, since early in July when, police said, he admitted shortages in his accounts exceeding $125,000.

STATE'S RELIEF NEEDS STUDIED

Social Welfare Workers Check Up On Case Load Figures

Lansing, July 17. (AP)—The state social welfare commission's study of minimum relief needs took a field staff into Jackson county today, with instructions to move the survey to Pontiac tomorrow and to Flint Wednesday.

The group, composed of Ross W. Mayer, assistant to the acting director of social welfare; Charles P. Weber, former counsel for the emergency relief commission, and J. Phil Brewer, chief of public relations, planned to conduct inquiries similar to those made in Kalamazoo county last week.

The data will be presented to the commission Monday to guide its action on requests for $400,000 additional state aid for relief in July.

The commission indicated it would scrutinize the validity of case load figures, and the ability of counties to bear a larger proportion of welfare costs. The investigators also were instructed to learn whether past allotments were expended judiciously.

Blast In Kentucky Mine Fatal to 28

Providence, Ky., July 17 (AP)—One by one, the canvas-shrouded bodies of 28 mine explosion victims—nine of whom were found dead early today—were being brought to the surface tonight by rescue workers.

Late in the day, the relief crewmen had removed the bodies of ten miners whose lives were snuffed out in last Friday night's blast deep in the workings of the Duvin Coal company.

They included the nine who barricaded themselves behind a brattice of jute 260 feet underground in a desperate effort to "seal in" against deathly gas following the explosion which took the lives of 19 other miners whose bodies were found Saturday.

The lending bill, most thought, would not necessarily take a great deal of time, but its amount might total much less than the president requested. Word spread, particularly in the house, that to facilitate action, concessions might be made to the opposition.

Girl, 15, Will Wed Man Who'll Help Brother In Prison

Detroit, July 17 (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Clara Smith said today she would marry any man who would help her free her brother, Clarence, 23, who was sentenced for robbery armed on March 26 and sent to the southern Michigan prison.

"He shouldn't be in prison," the girl said. "He was framed."

Members of the family said they were considering sending bolnde Clara to Lansing to picket the state capitol. A sign has been prepared. It reads:

"Young girl will marry anyone to save brother serving six to 15 years for crime he didn't commit."

"James" Phipps—manlike in appearance, twice married as male. But Pasadena, Calif., police found real name to be Minerva, mannishness to be 23-year masquerade, booked "Mr." Phipps on false pretense charge.

His Sky Love Note Blew Away

Sky's the limit in love life of Oscar Wiggenjost, lower, sign painter of Lincoln, Neb. In high hope of reconcilation, he hired Pilot Joe Jacobs to sky-write "Wiggie loves Helen" above Omaha, Neb., home where estranged wife, Helen, top, is staying. Mean wind blew smoke letters away as they were formed—but "Wiggie" will try, try again.

McDonald To Meet With Supervisors On Social Security

J. R. McDonald of Escanaba, regional field supervisor for the state social security bureau, has been named to represent the bureau at a state convention of county poor superintendents and supervisors to be held at Cheboygan, July 25, 26 and 27.

Mr. McDonald has just returned from a Lansing conference called by Dr. Philip A. Calahan, acting chief of the new state social security organization.

FELLER SOLVED BY YANKS, 3-0

Cleveland Star Strikes Out 9 Men; Hadley Is Airtight

Cleveland, July 17 (AP) — Though he struck out nine of them in the first six innings, the world champion Yankees got to Bob Feller twice when it counted today and, behind the 5-hit shutout pitching of their own Bump Hadley, whipped Feller and the Indians, 3-0. The triumph gave the Yankees a sweep of the three-game series.

With Hadley scattering the Indians' safeties, four of them singles, over four innings, and giving only two bases of balls to Feller's four, the Yanks didn't need to unleash their customary dynamite. They got the winning run in the fifth, when George Selkirk walked, took second on a wild pitch, and scored on Babe Dahlgren's single to center, and then salted the game away in the seventh.

KAYSEE BLUES TACKLE STARS

Association Dream Game Proves Headache to Cripples' Pilot

BY HAROLD CLAASEN

Kansas City, July 17 (AP)—The American Association fans "dream game" is a plain nightmare to Manager Bill Meyer of the Kansas City Blues, whose cripples hope to stifle the all-stars bid for a second victory in the annual baseball extravaganza tomorrow night.

The Blues clinched the berth July 9, leading Minneapolis by a single point at the half-way mark. They limped to seven victories in the next eight games with a pitcher and an infield-substitute flanking Vince DiMaggio in the outfield and a catcher playing first base.

Outfielders Bud Metheny and Bill Matheson are out with leg injuries and Buzz Boyle, another .300 hitting gardener, is draped on the bench with a broken thumb. First Baseman John Sturm is hospitalized with a growth on his shin-bone. Metheny and Sturm, however, may see action against the all-stars.

Phil Rizzuto, scampering shortstop, was called in from a week's tenure on the sidelines with a throat infection to round out a full team. Second Baseman Gerry Priddy stuck to his post although forced to play with his sides so tightly taped he could scarcely bend.

Against this array of hospital specimens Manager Babe Ganzel of St. Paul, who will do the all-star master-minding, will start a team which bats a collective .317 and whose pitcher with the least impressive record is that of Freddie Hutchinson, the $50,000 beauty owned by Detroit.

Hutchindson has won nine and lost eight for the tail-end Toledo Mud Hen.

Among the expected 20,000 fans will be William Harridge, president of the American league; Ford Frick, holder of a similar post in the National league; Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball commissioner, and Manager Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees.

Larry MacPhail, the Brooklyn ringmaster, and Warren Giles of the Cincinnati Reds' front office, also will attend.

PIRATES TAKE PHILS, 7 TO 4

Chuck Klein Hits Pair of Homers to Bring In Three Runs

Philadelphia, July 17 (AP)—Two former Phillies—Chuck Klein and Joe Bowman—led the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 7 to 4 victory over their ex-teammates today.

Klein, hitting safely in his 16th consecutive game, smashed two home runs—his fourth and fifth of the year—over the right field wall driving in three runs to account for the margin of victory.

Bowman was touched for 11 hits, but was tight in the pinches, in addition to getting three hits himself and starting the winning rally in the fourth by beating out a bunt.

Four-Hit Twirling By Walters Beats Boston's Bees, 4-0

Boston, July 17 (AP)—Behind the masterful, four-hit pitching of Bucky Walters, the league-leading Cincinnati Reds beat Boston's Bees 4 to 0 today.

For a time it was feared the Reds would lose the services of Ernie Lombardi, their slugging catcher, but what was at first described as a split finger, later proved to be only a split nail.

In winning his 15th game of the season, Walters allowed but two Bees to reach second and none of them saw third. He passed none until the ninth, when the first hitter, Outlaw, batting for MacFayden, drew a walk.

BAD LUCK HITS GIANTS TWICE

Lou Chiozza Fractures Leg While Cards Get 4 to 3 Victory

New York, July 17 (AP)—The Giants, their infield already crippled by the ten-day suspension of shortstop Billy Jurges, sustained another blow today when Lou Chiozza, No. 1 infield utility man, was carried off the field with a broken leg in the ninth inning of the St. Louis Cardinals' 4-3 victory over the Terrymen.

Chiozza, at shortstop in Jurges' place, went racing back into short left field to take a high fly hit by pitcher Clyde Shoun, first man up for the Cards in the ninth. At the same time left fielder Joe Moore came tearing in for the ball. Chiozza got it for the putout but a second later the two team-mates collided.

Moore was able to finish the game, but Chiozza was rushed off the field on a stretcher and taken to the hospital. A preliminary examination showed what appeared to be a double fracture of the left leg. X-rays were to be taken at the hospital.

MACKINAC RACE WON BY YAWL

New York Entry First to Cross Line At Straits

Mackinaw City, Mich., July 17 (AP)—Windigo, Manitou and Meridian crossed the finish line one, two, three today in the 15th annual Port Huron to Mackinac sailing race which started last Saturday.

Windigo, a 72-foot ocean-going racing Yawl, carried a crew of New Yorkers with Carl Schmidlapp, of Seawabhaka Yacht club, as skipper. It finished at 4:08:31 p. m. (EST) after a run of approximately 48½ hours.

Manitou, a yawl piloted by James R. Lowe, Grand Rapids, Mich., finished one minute and 28 seconds later.

At 5:53:35 the Meridian, Milt Knight's big schooner from Toledo, crossed the line. The Meridian was scratch boat.

The corrected time upon which the race's winner is determined will be announced later by officials of the race. Windigo, because of its specifications, had a time allowance of eight minutes, 58 seconds, where as the Manitou had an allowance of one hour and 28 minutes.

Among the questions to be decided by officials were those growing out of the accident which befell the Toledo sloop Siren, which lost a mast at the start of the race.

The sloop Chez Chien of Dayton, Ohio, put in at Tawas City, Mich., today after abandoning the race. It is one of the smaller boats. The original fleet was 33 boats.

Bean Outlines Future Possibilities Of Advancement In City

ROTARY HEARS CITY MANAGER

Bean Tells of Plans for Future of Escanaba; Work of City

A highly interesting address on the future possibilities of Escanaba and plans for progressive improvement by the city government was given before the Rotary club yesterday noon by City Manager George Bean.

The three principal objectives of the community at the present, Bean said, are: (1) make it a more pleasant city in which to live; (2) make it attractive to tourists; and (3) make it attractive to possible future location of manufacturers and industries.

Bean said that the people of the city at present are interested in improving the living conditions. To that end, the city council is trying to extend the services of the city government so that it will be beneficial to all residents. Lowering of electric rates is one of the principal aims of the city administration and this, Bean said, will be made possible very soon with the expected signing of a new power contract between the city and the Upper Peninsula Power and Light company.

It is the aim of the city administration to lower the power rates in order to increase usage to a level equal to that of the top ranking cities of the United States.

Dress Up Ludington

In addition to the street paving program carried on by the city during the past two or three years, it is planned to "dress up" Ludington street for commercial reasons and for the benefit of tourists coming into the city. The city is planning to revise the lighting arrangement on Ludington street in order to improve visibility, to boulevard both ends of the street and to improve sidewalks. The council already has appropriated funds for the lighting improvements, which wil start soon.

With reference to parks and playgrounds, the city manager outlined future plans which consist mainly of completing the yacht harbor, constructing a bathing house and winter house for skaters and for construction of a band shell. He said, if things progress as planned, the bathing house and winter house should be ready by 1941 or 1942 with the band shell later. He pointed out that residents of the city must be patient because the improvements are dependent largely upon appropriations from the federal government.

Pay-As-You-Go Basis

Bean touched somewhat on an intended rehabilitation program for low income groups whereby the so-called "slum" section of the city might be improved with attractive, low cost buildings. He also said he hoped the city might legislate against the billboard nuisance which detracts from the entrance to the city.

With reference to the financial end of the administration, Bean pointed out that, with the exception of bonded indebtedness, the city is operating within its current revenues on a pay-as-you-go basis. The city, at the present rate, could retire all its bond in six years but they are uncallable and must be retired as they are due. He said the issue now is whether the city will reduce taxes or give the residents the broader program of progressive administration and development planned. He said he was in favor of reducing utility rates and extending the city services and future program.

The city manager informed the Rotary club that it is expected the new power contract will be signed within a short time, pointing out that the lower rates being given the city by the power company will be passed on to the consumers. He said the power company and city are planning on cooperating in a promotional program for the increased use of electricity in the home.

The Rotary district assembly, scheduled for Monday, July 24, at Antigo, Wis., has been postponed, it was anounced yesterday by C. R. Henderson, secretary of the Escanaba club. The date of the meeting will be announced later.

ONE YEAR TO GO—PRESIDENTIAL POSSIBILITIES

No. 10—Bruce Barton

Bruce Barton: knows how to pick an issue—and dramatize it.

BY BRUCE CATTON
Escanaba Daily Press Washington Correspondent

Strictly a dark horse for the Republican nomination, but a rather promising one all things considered, is Congressman Bruce Barton of New York.

Ordinarily no congressman who has not yet got half way through his second term would be considered for the presidency. But Congressman Barton is a bit different.

For one thing, he was widely known all across the country before he entered public life. His books, including the famous "Man Nobody Knows," were best sellers; long before he got into Congress, Mr. Barton's name was familiar to thousands of people who couldn't have named four congressmen to save their lives. His newspaper and magazine writings, of course, helped to spread his fame.

For another thing, Mr. Barton is an effective congressman and is possessed of a great deal of ability. As one of the country's leading advertising men, in addition, he knows how to select an issue and dramatize it so as to appeal to the masses.

The son of a widely known clergyman, Mr. Barton is a midwesterner by background and a New Yorker by choice. He is affable, popular with his colleagues, and given to rather puckish jibing at the New Deal's foibles. He attracted a bit of attention earlier this year by announcing a campaign to get at least one useless law repealed each week.

HIS ASSETS: A widely known name, plus general respect for his intellect; the equipment of a good campaigner; orthodox Republicanism leavened by a certain amount of liberalism.

HIS LIABILITIES: He has no "machine" working for him; politicians tend to fight shy of the newcomer . . . and Barton-for-VICE-president talk is beginning to be heard.

HIS CHANCES: He's an outsider, but he could pull a surprise.

BANK DEBITS IN U. P. GAIN

Marquette's Institutions Continue to Lead Other Cities'

Upper Michigan's bank debits climbed $1,015,000 during June to reach a total of $22,751,000 for the 26-day period, with Marquette holding a substantial lead over other communities, the Ninth federal reserve district reports shows.

Marquette, which reported an increase of $329,000 in May and a total of $2,873,000, scored another gain of $367,000 during June, or a two months' increase of $696,000. The city's June total was $3,240,000, compared with $21,736,000 in May.

Of 15 cities reporting, five showed losses and 10 gains. Sault Ste. Marie, with a gain of $287,000, moved into second place over Menominee, reporting total debits of $2,744,000. Menominee, although gaining $101,000, slipped into third place with a total of $2,721,000.

Iron Mountain, off $29,000, continued to hold fourth position. Ironwood, with a gain of $118,000, took over fifth place from Escanaba which lost $23,000 to drop to $1,750,000 for the month.

Ishpeming again reported a sharp increase, climbing $169,000 for the month, following a $368,000 gain during May. Its June debits of $1,537,000 were $220,000 greater than June, 1938.

Negaunee's debits of $822,000 represented a loss of $50,000 for the month but the total was $1,000 greater than the same month last year.

A Big-Time Promoter

THE death of Carl G. Fisher at Miami on Saturday removed from the American scene one of the outstanding developers of resort communities and other recreational attractions.

Born in Greensburg, Ind., Fisher left school while in the grades and worked in typical Horatio Alger hero fashion as a news butcher and in many other occupations. Then, he made money in the manufacture of bicycles and with the advent of the automobile swelled his fortune by organizing the Prest-O-Lite company.

Fisher was one of the original promoters of the Indianapolis Speedway, where he was assisted by a young newspaperman, who handled publicity for the annual Memorial Day racing classic After selling out his interests in the Presto-O-Lite company, Fisher went down to Florida and built the attractive resort community of Miami Beach on the sandy wastes along Biscayne Bay.

Down to Florida with Fisher went the speedway publicity man, Steve Hannagan, who with his vivid imagination and exploitation of the bathing beauty has publicized Miami Beach all over the world. Afterward, Hannagan set himself up with offices in New York City, and while still retaining the Miami Beach account proceeded to make Sun Valley and other places famous.

Florida was fortunate in attracting the Fishers, Ringlings, Stetsons, Flaglers, Boks and other capitalists, who went down from the north to spend their winter vacations and eventually invested some of their wealth in various communities. Folks in the Upper Peninsula often wish that someone would come from the outside and start some big resort developments here. Undoubtedly, Florida citizens did a lot of developing on their own before outside wealth was attracted, however.

At Low Ebb

SPEAKING before the Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Virginiaa, Dr. Lawrence Preuss of the University of Michigan declared that international morality is at a lower ebb than at any time since the Thirty Years War, which was waged from 1618 to 1648.

In three centuries, civilization has made great advances in materialism, but the improvements achieved in international relations have suffered severe setbacks in the last decade. International morality declined during the World War, but did score a comeback in the various movements looking toward world peace and the outlawry of brutal warfare that followed.

Not since the days of barbarism has there been witnessed the brutal savagery that has been committed in invasion of Ethiopia and China and the civil war in Spain. In the earier wars, the slaughter of non-combatants was considered inhuman, but in the recent conflicts the bombing of women and children in market places, invalids in hospitals and other innocent peoples was undertaken in earnest as a means of ruining the morale of the people.

Predictions are freely made that the next world war will bring out more savagery than ever before. It is probably the fear of what the next great conflict might be that causes some of the nations to suffer much humiliation rather than risk its horrors.

Mark Interesting Places

OFTEN suggested but never acted upon is the idea of marking interesting places that lie off the beaten path in the Upper Peninsula.

Some states are doing a good job of putting up rustic signs directing the tourist to scenic lakes, waterfalls, historic landmarks and other places of interest. Visitors will not tarry long in any particular section while they remain on concrete highways, but if they can be induced to go on exploration trips for themselves they will spend extra time and money before leaving a locality.

The state highway department and road commissions have started the marking of streams along the highways. Extension of this program to pass on additional information of interest to the traveler would be a worthwhile undertaking.

Trick Plates Out

ONE of the reassuring bits of news coming out of the recent convention of the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police at Blaney Park was the statement by Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly that no more trick license plates would be issued to tickle the vanity of motorists.

The 1940 license plates will be uniform for every car, and no exceptions will be made for state officials and persons of influence, the Secretary of state told the police officials. The public will no longer be puzzled over the meaning of such designations as "COO 1" and "BOO 2" and "PAR 4". Everyone will be just as important as the other fellow.

The principal consideration involved in the issuance of uniform license, is that the state will save a few thousand dollars by not having to make the special designs, for which no extra money was received.

Longer Hunting Season

THE conservation commission has fixed the season for hunting prairie chicken, partridge and other grouse from Oct. 1 to 20 eight days longer than last year's season.

The commission apparently was prompted to increase the number of hunting days upon receiving favorable reports from hunters and the department's game specialists concerning the bird crop in this part of the state. The longer hunting season will be appreciated by sportsmen, although the conservation-minded among them will hope that there will not be any drastic reduction of the supply of birds as a result. It is something that the game experts of the department also will be watching carefully, however, with a view of arriving at proper regulation of hunting in the future.

Conservation and tourist interests of the Copper Country won their fight to secure protection of the bear as a tourist attraction when the commission decided to close Keweenaw and a part of Houghton county to hunting excepting during deer season. Other counties were given until Sept. 1 to request a closed season on bruins if this protection is desired. Damage by bears in non-agricultural areas is negligible, and the commission is making it possible to have these interesting animals protected wherever desired.

Kill Noxious Weeds

HAY fever sufferers will be coming to Escanaba and other Upper Peninsula communities within a few weeks to seek relief from their ailments.

Many of these hay fever victims will have come to the Upper Peninsula upon reading advertisements in the metropolitan newspapers and the Lure Book that this region is free of the pollen of ragweed and other noxious weeds.

Upper Peninsula communities are duty-bound to make good on their advertising. Their advertising will appear fraudulent to these visitors should they find as much irritating pollen here as in the places from where they came.

Thirteen million people in the United States suffer annually from hay fever, the statistics say. These sufferers are a good market for the Upper Peninsula during August and September, but we cannot sell them our recreational wares and natural cures unless we eliminate from our communities the noxious weeds that cause these people so much discomfort.

WHAT EVERY WOMAN KNOWS
(Christian Science Monitor)

The New York Times brings once more to public attention—albeit by a typographical error—a fundamental fact that every woman knows and every man ought gratefully to acknowledge: "Mr. Chamberlain is determined not to bring Mr. Churchill into the cabinet at this moment, but even the Prime Minister's most loyal friends do not care to say Mrs. Churchill can be kept out for good."

IMPORTANT FOR U. P.
(Marquette Mining Journal)

One of the major tasks of the Upper Peninsula Development bureau, Chambers of Commerce and business and industrial associations in this area, the focusing of attention on recreational and industrial resources of the peninsula, may be made easier as the result of two meetings of newspapermen here.

Today about 35 editors and publishers of the principal newspapers in Michigan, members of The Associated Press, will arrive here for the annual two-day meeting of the Mich iganAssociated Press Editorial association.

Next weekend 24 outdoor and feature writers for eight newspapers in Chicago and Milwaukee will spend two days in and about Marquette as guests of the North Western railroad and the Marquette Chamber of Commerce.

In addition to the time spent in business sessions, the newsmen will have an opportunity to enjoy deep sea trolling in Lake Superior, golf at Marquette and Ishpeming and to become more acquainted with the industrial and business activities of the region.

In motoring to Marquette and to other parts of the peninsula after the meetings here, the newspapermen will observe many of the natural assets that are making the upper peninsula increasingly important as a summer playground. Being trained observers, they also will not fail to recognize some of the peninsula's less favorable aspects—the pressing need for better highways and the lack of adequate accommodations for tourist and resort visitors in some sections.

Those who have come to the U. P. on other occasions, however, will realize that much progress has been made during the past few years, that everywhere a definite effort is being made to raise standards of service and to provide better recreation and resort facilities.

TAX TYRANNY
(St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

Something resembling the old tyrannical days of prohibition enforcement seems scheduled for Iowa, now that the state has decided to go the limit, or beyond the limit, in enforcing its new 2-cent cigarette tax. There won't be any bootlegging if the authorities can help it, and they are ready to sacrifice such forms as search warrants and ideas about every man's home being his castle in order to keep out untaxed cigarette.

In a burst of leniency, the regulations permit every smoker to possess two unstamped packages of cigarettes. That's where leniency ceases, however. For every additional unstamped pack, a $50 fine is provided, or $500 for a carton, $25,000 for a case. Revenue agents, sniffing out contraband cigarettes, may enter any home or business place without a warrant. They may stop any car or truck, also without a warrant.

Americans got heartily sick of the "life for a pint" sentences and the lawless search-and-seizure technique of the dry era. Did Iowa legislators imagine they could revive these oppressions for the sake of a 2-cent cigarette tax? It requires no prophet to foresee the likelihood of public revolt and official disillusionment, fllowed by repeal of the drastic enforcement rules in the Tall Corn state.

World Affairs Reviewed

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—The Brazilian Government has requested the World Federation of Education Associations to cancel its eighth biennial conference scheduled to be held in that country this summer. The reason is that several projects having to do with the broad phases of education undertaken by Brazil cannot be completed in time to carry out the government's program of participation. The action is obviously disappointing to some fifteen hundred delegates representing all the principal countries, although planned activities will not be entirely canceled.

Despite the disappointment, the federation will hold its conference during August, and the special cruise to South America will go on as scheduled. There will be changes in the general plans for the meeting, but the program for cultural studies and visits, and special entertainment for professional guests, will be carried out as originally planned.

The Brazilian authorities, proud of their cultural heritage, and particularly interested in welcoming this large group of educators, have asked that while in Rio the conference visitors confine themselves to a study of the fine and liberal arts and the pleasures afforded in Brazil. Every possible opportunity for the good-will visitors to appreciate the beauty and cultural advantages will be afforded them. Special arrangements for these visitors have also been made in Montevideo, Buenos Aires, Caracas, and a number of other ports of call.

The federation holds its session in a different country biennially and makes adequate preparations for the meetings. Programs and other literature are prepared in several languages, with special emphasis on the language of the country in which the session is held.

The federation grew out of a need for a non-political international body to foster the cause of education. At the close of the World War, there was a universal desire to find some common ground upon which the nations could work together. They could not agree on political or religious grounds, but it was believed that a solution was possible.

The National Education Association of the United States took cognizance of the situation. The association believes and fosters the idea that education deals with truth and that truth is universal, knowing no national boundaries; that the schools must consciously guide not only individuals but groups of individuals which make up communities and nations. On this basis the association's thought was that the one constructive force which should be utilized to advance the status of civilization is education.

—FIRST CONFERENCE—

To make effective a plan, the NEA instructed its committee on foreign relations to prepare a program that would blend in purpose with its general policy, and which would emphasize the necessity of cooperation and of good-will among nations. After the committee began its work, it found an eagerness on the part of the peoples of the world to get together on an educational basis, and many countries suggested their willingness to send delegates to a world conference on the subject. Such a conference was called by the NEA and the hand of fellowship extended to all nations.

This conference met at San Francisco in July, 1923, and was attended by some six hundred delegates from approximately sixty countries. The outstanding achievement of the meeting was the formation of a permanent organization to be known as the World Federation of Education Association.

The federation is chartered by the Regents of the University of New York, and is an educational organization of world-wide scope, non-sectarian and non-political. It is an institution dealing with problems that concern educators in all lands, and having for its main purpose the promotion of international understanding and good-will through education.

The objectives of the organizations are: to achieve through education international understanding, appreciation, justice, good-will, friendship, and cooperation; to make educational movements, events and achievements quickly available to the teaching profession of all lands; to secure international cooperation in all educational enterprises; to facilitate through conferences and personal contacts the cooperation of official representatives of education organizations of all countries; to meet the needs for a common channel of professional intercourse, and professional interest, when political views are so divergent.

These objectives are promoted by active contacts and correspondence with and among its members; by the dissemination of educational information whenever possible; by the publication of a bimonthly magazine containing articles on education from various countries of the world; and by holding biennial conferences which are attended by thousands of educators from all parts of the world. The exchange of ideas and friendship of the delegates has already had beneficial effects on steps toward peace and understanding among nations.

Answers To Questions

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Escanaba Daily Press Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. Do Jews control most of the large corporations in the United States? J. H. G.
A. Of the 80,000 directors of America's leading corporations only 4.8 per cent are Jewish.

Q. Is it true that the process of vulcanizing rubber was discovered by accident? J. W. V.
A. In 1839, Charles Goodyear, by dropping some India rubber mixed with sulphur on a hot stove, accidentally discovered the process for the vulcanization of rubber.

Q. What city had the first traffic control lights? W. S.
A. The first installation of traffic signals was at E. 105th and Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio.

Q. Please give the area of Los Angeles and San Francisco, California. N. V. S.
A. The area of Los Angeles is 451 square miles; San Francisco, 42 square miles.

Q. Is the school where Mary and her little lamb went still in existence? E. S. H.
A. In 1927 the schoolhouse immortalized in the poem was moved from Redstone Hill in Sterling, Massachusetts, to Henry Ford's Wayside Inn estate at South Sudbury, Massachusetts. The schoolhouse is in use with 16 pupils of the first four grades in attendance during the school year. The pupils who attend this little one room school are residents of the town of Sudbury.

Q. Is there a desert in Maine? B. L. S.
A. What is known as the Maine Desert lies within the village of Freeport. This desert is of comparatively recent formation, and covers about 800 acres. The land was formerly green fields and pastures. The soil was shallow and the sand immediately beneath. The cause of the present condition is not definitely known—some say that grazing sheep cropped the grass to the roots and destroyed the turf. Others attribute it to fire. A second desert lies in the vicinity of Waterville, Maine. This is much smaller.

Q. Why is the engagement ring worn on the third finger of the left hand? H. L.
A. Many centuries ago it was the belief that the heart was the center of emotion and that a vein connected the heart with the third finger of the left hand. Thus it became the custom to wear the engagement and wedding rings on the finger closely connected with the heart.

Q. For whom is Bakersfield, California, named? K. H. J.
A. The city is named in honor of Colonel Thomas Baker a civil engineer, by whom it was laid out.

Q. How many words a minute do the actors speak in radio dramas? J. T. H.
A. Dialogue over the air is spoken at an average rate of 186 words a minute.

Q. What is the name of the town in France where America's Unknown Soldier was chosen? M. G. H.
A. The ceremony took place on October 25, 1921, at Chalons-sur-Marne. A tablet has been dedicated in the City Hall there commemorating the occasion.

Q. Please explain how the weather reports are given over the telephone in New York City. L. W.
A. The idea of reporting weather by telephone was originated by the Bell Telephone Company in New York on April 8, 1939. This is done mechanically, the reports being spoken into a magnetic case from the Weather Bureau and received in the central office. Temperature changes are made and the weather forecasts are changed once or twice daily. About 58,000 calls for weather reports are received daily.

Q. How many students attend the Louisiana State University? K. D.
A. The university has an enrollment of over 8000.

Vienna—There is a crisis in the Hungarian soviet. General Boehm, commander of the armies, is in prison. Reports circulated say his health requires rest. Strumfeld, second in command, is reported to have fled. Statements that Bella Kun, soviet leader, has been invited to a conference by the allies gives rise to reports he has accepted this as a means of escaping Hungary.

Mt. Clemens—Henry Ford under examination as a witness for the defense during today's session of his libel suit against the Tribune was led through a maze of questions by the paper's attorney, who said he was trying to show the alleged libelous editorial was correct in calling Mr. Ford an "ignorant idealist."

While it is reported the people of Stonington are showing considable interest in the proposal to allow them to have a part in the construction of a permanent dock at the old gravel dock site, it was learned yesterday that subscriptions for the farmers' portion of the dock fund are not being recorded as rapidly as was anticipated.

The regular weekly false alarm from box 13 called the fire department out last night. Fire chief Arvid Johnson is hoping that the old story of the pitcher that goes to the well once too often will work out in this case and when it does, an example is to be made of the party or parties turning in alarms from this box with such annoying regularity.

Soo Line passenger train No. 86 crashed into a road roller on a road crossing just east of Manistique yesterday forenoon, hurled the big machine from the track and no damage resulted to the train or passengers other than a few bars being broken out of the pilot of the engine.

Considerable complaint continues to come from patrons of the bathing beach about small sums of money or small articles of jewelry being taken from the locker rooms while they are in bathing. On two occasions recently the police have rounded up boys who have taken large sums of money and valuable articles like watches and the property has been recovered.

52ND STREET GOING, GOING—?

Can't remember the time I caught Robert Benchley without a smile. That is, when he wasn't guffawing.

Still the goofiest and funniest man in town, to my humorous notion, is Jack White, the thin man with the nervous gestures, who runs the crazy house on 52nd Street known as the "18" Club.

Wouldn't be a bad idea if the Rockefellers did raze 52nd Street and banish swing—which is what the Rockefellers are contemplating. There would be a boon to humanity.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—Newspapermen who jammed the President's office just after the Senate Foreign Relations Committee had turned down his neutrality bill were surprised and disappointed at his calmness over this severe setback.

They had come to the press conference in large numbers expecting to hear another sizzling "horse-and-buggy" fusillade. Instead, Roosevelt appeared unruffled, good natured and with little to say on neutrality.

But what the newsmen did not know was that Roosevelt was neither calm nor good humored. Actually he was fighting mad, and if it hadn't been for Cardinal Mundelein, the reporters probably would have got the box-car headlines they had anticipated.

The Cardinal had a luncheon engagement with the President at 1 P. M. Word of the committee's action reached the President shortly before noon, and he hit the ceiling. By the time Mundelein was ushered in, Roosevelt was seething witb indignation.

With deep emotion, the President told his old friend that he was not going to take the blow lying down, that he intended to fight back and would go on the air at once to take the issue directly to the people.

—CARDINAL SOOTHES PRESIDENT—

His Eminence is a warm supporter of the Administration's foreign policy; also he is a wise and far-sighted counselor. At first, he did not disagree with the President and his hot-tempereed plans. He merely said nothing. He talked about the short-sightedness of the committee and concurred with the President that the morning's work had been a big victory for Hitler and the Nazi-Fascist axis.

For two hours the gentle, understanding prelate quietly kept the conversation rolling while the President blew off steam and cooled off.

When the Cardinal finally rose to go it was a little after 3 o'clock and the President had regained his usual cheery composure. An hour later when the reporters trooped in, Roosevelt gave no outward sign of being disturbed. He chatted and joked as if nothing untoward had happened.

However, two questions had been "planted" with several newsmen to enable him to air his views on a power question and a spending issue. And he muffed both ones. His mind was not on the press conferencee.

—FISHIN' FAN

Barring change in his plans, the President will make a one-day stopover in Oregon in order to try cut its famed fishing waters during his West Coast junket.

He may also return East from his Alaska visit by way of the Panama Canal. This part of his itinerary is still unsettled, will depend on conditions abroad and whether he decides to do some speaking en route home. Some political advisers are urging this. If the President does return by rail he will pay another visit to the Fort Peck Dam in Montana, which he inspected two years ago while it was under construction.

Present tentative plans call for only one stop en route to the San Francisco Fair, to visit White House Secretary Marvin McIntyre, convalescing in North Carolina. There is every likelihood, however, that this will be changed and several stops added to the schedule.

—SPANISH LOAN—

State Department officials are not anxious to have it advertiseed, but they are still pulling wires to give General Franco a large Export-Import Bank credit, despite the fact that revolution once again has reared its head in Spain.

Not only are Franco forces quarreling among themselves, but Republicans have begun sporadic fighting in some parts of Spain.

When the situation was reversed, and a Republican Government was attempting to suppress revolt, the career boys did everything in their power to help the Fascists. Today they are consistent at least to the extent of still wanting to help the Fascists. For they know that a loan to Franco from the United States would bring tremendous prestige to Franco, and probably discourage Republican revolt. Perhaps this is why the career boys are so eager.

Cooler heads in the State Department, however, such as Judge Walton Moore, are concerned over the fact that under the law, a U. S. loan to Spain must be approved by the Spanish legislature. Franco is not worrying about legislatures. And the career boys aren't either.

THE LAST BUTTON

Party night, and a child in flight,
Wonderful child—mother's delight—
The boy was ready to dash out the door
When she saw three buttons, where there should be four.
She took her oath they were on at noon,
She took her thread and very soon,
Without undressing, more than a third, heard,
Without his taking a dreadful chance,
She sewed a button on his pants.

"I CAN go without," he shouted at her.
"You CAN'T go without!" (Her voice didn't purr!)
"Why can't mothers see before
There's only three buttons where there should be four?
And why does a boy that's most sixteen
Have to go through such a shocking scene?"
"Read Plutarch, boy! Read Plato, son,
And you'll find that mothers have counted it fun,
Down through the ages, before the dance,
To sew big buttons on their offsprings' pants!"

MANY MUSICAL UNITS COMING

Drum and Bugle Corps to Compete At Legion Convention

Between eight and nine hundred musicians will participate in the drum and bugle corps competitions at the state convention of the American Legion and Auxiliary in Escanaba August 19 to 22, it was anounced yesterday by Fred T. Bolton, Detroit, chairman of the state Legion music and drill committee. Mr. Bolton came here yesterday with Don Glascoff, Detroit, state adjutant, to complete convention program details.

The Pontiac drum and bugle corps, which won first prize in class A competition four years in succession, is coming to Escanaba to defend its title. Other class A entrants will come from Detroit, Port Huron, Bay City, Flint, Sault Ste. Marie and Calumet. Class B units will include Mason, Grayling, LaPeer, Saginaw, Bad Axe and a couple from Detroit.

The Sons of the American Legion drum and bugle corps entrants include: Detroit, which won first place at Battle Creek in 1938; Ironwood, champion at Detroit in 1937; and Traverse City.

The drum and bugle corps of the Wayne County Auxiliary and the all-Legion colored band from Charles Young Post in Detroit also will play at the convention.

Altogether, more than $2,000 will be offered as prizes in the music and drill competitions, which will be held at the Escanaba high school athletic field Sunday afternoon and evening, Aug. 20.

A special train will bring Legionnaires from Flint and Saginaw and arrangements were made yesterday for parking the equipment in the railroad yards here. The D. & C. passenger boat, Eastern States, will bring additional delegates, and there is a possibility a second boat will be chartered.

New York, July 17—Dick Powell and his party bid adieu to the WABC-CBS kilocycles on Tuesday night at 6, while the program takes a summer vacation. This show, like that last week, runs an hour. Return date for the fall series is September 19.

The finale will contain the usual roster of talent embracing Martha Raye and Parkyakarkus. To fill this hour next week will appear a University of Chicago produced educational dramatic feature, "Human Adventure."

Information Please is placing on its board of experts via WJZ-NBC at 6:30 the scientist and expert on submarine investigations, Dr. William Beebe, as well as Clarence Budington Kelland, fiction writer to sort of "guest-help" out the regulars F. P Adams and John Kieran, who is sports columnist of the New York Times.

Alec Templeton, playing his piano in Fibber McGee and Molly's old stand on WEAF-NBC at 7:30, plans to provide a mixture of popular and grand opera. . . . John A. Stevenson, president of an insurance company, will tell his story in the WOR-MBS Success Session" at 7:30.

Armchair Adventures, a series of story broadcasts from Hollywood, is being heard five times a week on WABC-CBS at 8:45. The annunced schedule lists it on Sunday, Tuesday, Wednesday Thursday and Saturday nights.

Early 'Gas Buggy' Inventor Says Modern Autos Are a Nuisance

BY WILLIAM A. BAKER, JR.
NEA Serv. Special Correspondent

Lansing Mich. — Ransom E. Olds built in 1886 what was perhaps the first automobile constructed for commercial purposes, and he has lived to be a hearty man of 75 who "never expected automobiles to be such a nuisance as they are today."

Olds, whose name lives in two modern automobiles, the Oldsmobile and the Reo, lives quietly here, alternating with a home in Daytona Beach, Fla. But he likes to recall the days when everybody thought the horseless carriage was a fad that would "never catch on."

The expedients of the day seem almost incredible now, but Olds recalls that he once actually put the papier mache head of a horse on the front end of one of his cars in the hope that it would fool passing horses and avert the series of runaways which accompanied every trip on the road by the snorting first autos.

* * *

TRAVELING TRAPEZE

"At one time," Olds recalled, "I had a trapeze built on a car, and a man performed on the trapeze above the driver while the car was in motion. This was done at county fairs to attract attention, because the public thought the motor car would never amount to anything. But the more foresighted people did come to Lansing in droves to see the cars, and President Theodore Roosevelt was among them. I gave him his first public ride in a motor vehicle.

"We had to compete with horses in our first models. I remember an advertisement which read, 'This graceful and practical automobile will do the work of six horses at an average cost of $35 (10,000 miles). Board alone for one horse costs $180 a year, so the economy is very evident'."

Olds remembers taking his early cars out for dashing test runs at 10 miles an hour just before daybreak along the dirt roads, the hour chosen to avoid scaring horses. He began experimenting with "horseless carriages" in his father's boiler and stationary-engine shop in Lansing while Duryea, Winton, Haynes, and others were working toward the same goal.

* * *

As late as 1899 there were only about 50 automobiles in the United States; two years later Olds himself produced almost 4000.

"The first Oldsmobile made in Detroit sold for $1200," Olds recalls, "and the venture was more or less of a commercial failure. The public didn't understand the cars, which were too complicated. One of the things that helped the motor industry greatly was the development of forced lubrication —until that came along we had a lot of trouble with oiling. Rubber tires also helped a lot—we have to take off our hats to the man who developed the modern rubber tire.

Olds advised Henry Ford, then working for Edison at $1000 a year "to get into the motor vehicle business, because it had an excellent future." Of all the motor pioneers, Ford is today the only one who is still active in the industry, Olds having recently retired as chairman of the board of the Reo Motor Co.

Shacker Slugged By Negro; Watch Stolen; $30 Safe

Paul Rodiski, shacker, reported to police that he was slugged and robbed by an unidentified negro early Sunday morning near the C. Nee coal yards in North Escanaba.

The negro, he said, knocked him down and took his watch. He failed, however, to find $30, which Rodiski was carrying in his shirt.

Police are working on the theory that the negro was an employe of the circus, which was loading late Saturday night in the vicinity.

20 Enrollees Sent From Delta County Over Past Week End

With a recent enrollment of young men from various parts of the peninsula, civil conservation corps camps in the Hiawatha and Marquette national forests are well up in man power, Edward Lee, assistant supervisor of the forest service said yesterday.

Enrollment last week brought most of the camps in the peninsula to the desired 200 workers, Lee said.

Routine summer work is the order of the day at the present time although emphasis is being placed on the Lake Michigan recreational development area near St. Ignace. Enrollees of the Round Lake camp are employed on this project.

Twenty new enrollees were sent from Delta county over the week-end. They included: Antone Raspar of Gladstone, Leon Sharkey of Rock, Helmer Sundstrom of this city, Peter Mores of Nahma, Robert Pelke of Gladstone, Irvin Pilon of Rock, Derwood Pratt of Bark River, Royal Valiquette of Escanaba, William Moreau of Perkins, Howard Marmalick of Gladstone, Lawrence Krause of Rapid River, Earl King of Escanaba, Robert Hanley of this city, Alberg Gagnon of Gladstone, Arnold Eagle of Gladstone, Harold DuRoy of Masonville, Richard Cook and Cari Carlson of Escanaba, Harold Brown of Gladstone and Ernest Michel of Schaffer.

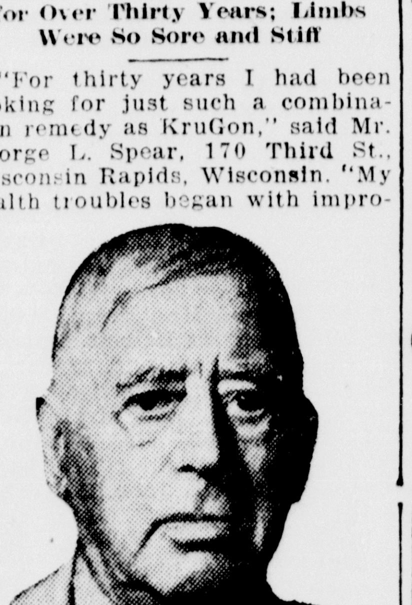
"Greatest Remedy of My Experience"

He Declares of KruGon; Had Been In A Miserable Condition for Over Thirty Years; Limbs Were So Sore and Stiff

"For thirty years I had been looking for just such a combination remedy as KruGon," said Mr. George L. Spear, 170 Third St., Wisconsin Rapids, Wisconsin. "My health troubles began with improper elimination and the intestinal poisons were gradually getting the best of me. They caused me the most severe suffering by allowing aches and pains to develop over my body settling especially in my knees until it was difficult for me to get about. My limbs were so sore and stiff too and in spite of all I tried I was unable to locate the medicine I needed. Then I became bilious and had dizzy spells frequently, my head ached so much that life was dreadfully uncomfortable at times. But all of this was before I had learned of KruGon for once I began its use I showed rapid improvement.



MR. GEORGE L. SPEAR

"This laxative-tonic formula began its work by giving me regular bowel action and with proper elimination of the intestinal poisons I was soon feeling like my former self again," continued Mr. Spear. "Now that stiffness has left my knees, have better use of my limbs, get around easier, sleep good and feel so different from the way I have in years. My digestion is better too, dizziness, headaches are relieved and I am only too glad to pass the good word along of my pleasant experience with this herbal remedy, KruGon."

KruGon is sold bly West End Drug Store, 1221 Ludington St., this city.

Green Bay's Lime House Oldest In Badger State

By Ethel Morrison Marsden

Standing on Green bay, near the shores of Red Banks, is a very old house built of lime-stone. The house itself is one of the very oldest in Wisconsin, no doubt, for although the history of Red Banks in terms of white men can be traced back some 300 years, there are those who claim this house to be 200 years old. Such a statement is probably untrue however, for no one actually knows how old this house really is. All that they do know is that it was already known as the "Old Lime house" over 100 years ago, back in 1830.

At that time the house was bought by Morgan L. Martin for Joseph Jourdain and Peter Chelifeaux for use as a trading post. The house was already standing, and was purchased from the American government. It was recorded even then as the "Old Lime house" so that no one can say how much older than this it actually is. The present owners have tried in vain to trace its earlier history, both with the English government, and with the French government as both of those countries held this portion of Wisconsin before it passed into the control of the United States. No one knows who built this home.

Jourdain Resident

The first resident therefore to be known is Joseph Jourdain. As we stated above, Jourdan's business was that of a fur trader and it extended from Green Bay to Fond du Lac and beyond. Indians brought their furs in to him from throughout that part of the country and exchanged them for tomahawks which Jourdain made from old gun barrels. These must have been most unique for Jourdain fashioned them into a combined pipe-of-peace and tomahawk. His trade mark is still found on some such pieces in the form of a copper crescent with his initials "JJ" inscribed within. It is most interesting to learn that the daughter of this early blacksmith and fur trader married Eleazer Williams of Lost Daughin fame. Their marriage took place in 1822 in her father's home at Green Bay. It is barely possible that they lived even then in this old lime house, but records are not clear on this point, for the abstract which the present owners have been able to have made traces the history only back to 1835.

This abstract contains 87 entries made in 100 years. The house has served variously as a fur-trading post; as a sort of half-way house between Red Banks and Green Bay, being used as an inn; and as a residence. In those days it, with its surrounding barns and buildings, formed a quite pretentious estate.

When the present owners purchased it in 1931, it had been gutted out by fire in 1916 and nothing but the heavy stone walls were left standing. Pictures taken of it at that time by Howard and Helen Kissel (the present owners) bears mute testimony of the solid way in which it had been built, for nothing, not even fire itself, could phase those solid walls which are 30 inches thick at the base, tapering in slightly at the top. The house itself is three stories high on the side facing the bay, and two stories high on the side on the road. It has been restored by the Kissels into one of the most charming of homes and is of interest now not only because of its simplicity of decoration, its interesting furniture, its harmonious yet cheerful color schemes, its ingenious manner of handling equipment, its carefully worked out details, and most of all—because of its utter charm. The hospitality of its owners is quite in keeping with the spirit of this quaint old house.

Three Fireplaces

Three huge fireplaces have always been a part of the house, one on each floor. The one on the lower floor is now in the large recreation room which the Kissels are working upon; the one on the next floor is a part of the delightful living room with its floor of random-width planks, pegged into place, with casement windows and heavily beamed ceiling with side-walls of knotty pine and end walls of white plaster. The third fireplace is found in the large master bedroom on the third floor.

Maple furniture has been used throughout most of the house. A novel note is found in many places, notably in the swinging blinds which separate dining room and kitchen, and in the ladder which is set into the wall leading to the attic. Rag rugs cover the floors, knotty pine has been used extensively, even being used in the kitchens to make cupboards.

This is truly an early American home, and one where 20th century modernity has been inter mixed with 18th century charm.

Stonington

Stonington, Mich. — Mr. and Mrs. Henry Granskog were the honor guests at a benefit party Sunday afternoon. Friends and relatives gathered at the home. A program was presented with Mr. John Strom of Escanaba in charge. A vocal duet, "Barndom's Hemmet" was sung by Miss Lillian Holmgren and Mr. Strom. Mr. Strom also sang some Swedish song favorite. Mrs. John B. Johnson of Escanaba gave a presentation speech and presented Mr. and Mrs. Granskog with a purse. Refreshments were served following the program, at a long table in the orchard. Mr. and Mrs. Granskog wishes to thank everyone who gave donations in Escanaba, Rapid River and Stonington.

Tax Allocation Group Meets; Valuation Up

A meeting of the county tax allocation committee will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the county courthouse for the purpose of determining the distribution of tax moneys to the various units of government in the county.

Members of the committee are: R. R. Olsen, county treasurer, chairman; P. A. LeClaire, clerk; Carl Person, chairman of the county board of supervisors' finance committee; Fred Peltier; Helmer Skogquist of Gladstone; and C. P. Titus, county commissioner of schools.

At present, the county is receiving eight mills of the 15 mills allowed for allocations. The rest is distributed between the township and school districts, the amount depending upon the need of the individual districts.

Valuation Higher

Due to recent changes in equalization, the assessed valuation of the county is increased approximately $30,000 over last year. The total assessed valuation this year is $16,195,837 as compared with $16,165,445 of last year.

The report of the committee on equalization is as follows:

Benefit Croquet Tourney Tonight

A benefit croquet tournament open to any boy or man in the city will be held near the Ludington park bandstand tonight beginning at 6:30 and extending until a winner has been decided. It is termed a benefit tournament because all who participate will be asked to pay a small fee, the proceeds to be used for the purchase of at least one rotating cup for croquete tournament play. The tournament will be an elimination affair with the winner of the tournament eligible to compete in the city finals scheduled for Wednesday night.

All playgrounds are eligible to enter a winner and a runner-up in the finals in junior boys and girls 13 and under, intermediate girls and boys 16 and under, senior men and women over 16, boys' and men's doubles, any age, girls' and women's doubles, any age, and mixed doubles, any age. These entries will be decided by the results of the playground tournaments. All who are interested are asked to go to their favorite playground for information.

WE, the WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

It's not Dorothy Arnold of Hollywood who is in love with Joe DiMaggio (though it might be vice versa). It is Dorothy Arnoldine Olson of Duluth, Minn.

In a way they are one and the same person. And in a way they aren't.

Because when you sit and talk to Dorothy Arnold about pictures, she seems a glamor girl of the Gorgeous School. But the minute you mention Joe DiMaggio, she's all small town girl.

Not only does she blush (the real thing) every time she mentions the famous baseball player's name, but she speaks of the wedding they are planning for this winter in a knock-on-wood sort of way. She's almost afraid to talk about it for fear something may go wrong.

But in spite of the fact that Dorothy Arnoldine Olson is very much in love and seems as much in awe of her Joe as any Yankee fan, Dorothy Arnold, movie actress, still occasionally puts in a word.

* * *

DOWN-TO-EARTH SORT OF GIRL

It is Dorothy Arnold who admits that if things keep on going right for her in Hollywood, she might find it pretty hard to give up acting for a life of sitting in a ball park biting her nails.

Dorothy Arnold isn't sure yet what she ought to do. She's a pretty down-to-earth sort of girl for a 22-year-old who is good looking enough (what with her dark blue eyes, blond hair and skin as satiny as it looks on the screen) not to have to do much thinking.

She sums up her romance in a way that must shock Miss Olson, who blushes so easily.

"Everything depends on what happens in the next few months. After all, you have to play your cards as they come, don't you, even in love?"

Mrs. Martin Petersen has returned from a visit with Rev. and Mrs. O. M. Langley at Crystal Falls, and from Eagle Harbor, where she motored with Rev. and Mrs. Langley for a short stay.

Miss Rose A. Nadolski and Rod Hogan motored to Sault Ste. Marie for a week-end visit with Mr. Hogan's father, and other members of the family, including his sister, Miss Margie Hogan of Milwaukee, who is vacationing at present in Sautl Ste. Marie.

Mrs. Frank Even of Chicago, the former Marie Michaud of this city, is here for a vacation visit at the family home, 206 North 19th street. Dr. Even, who accompanied her to Escanaba, returned to Chicago on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Carlson, Eighth avenue south, had as their guests over the week-end the following: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Christen, Bellingham, Wash.; Miss Joan Wedell, Superior, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Johnson and son, Denis, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Eubank, Grantham Eubank and Roy Lee Graber of Dallas, Texas., have joined Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Graber of Dallas, who are spending the summer months at the Charles Bisdee cottage, Garth Shores, for a vacation visit. Mrs. Eubank is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Graber and Roy Lee is their son.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Raymond have returned from Munising where they visited during the week-end with Mrs. Raymond's sister, Mrs. R. J. Wiekel, who is in Munising hospital, suffering from a skull fracture received when she fell down a stairway in her home. Mrs. Wiekel's condition Sunday was much improved.

Guests at the home of Mrs. Flora Brown, 908 South 15th street, over the week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Don Anderson of Appleton, Wis., and Miss Ruth Clark and William Colman of Waupun, Wis.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. George N. Harder at their home in Wells are Mrs. C. I. Perschbacher and Ann, John and Jean, of Appleton, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. John R. Harder, Evanston, Ill., and Miss Evelyn Harder and Jack Pittsford of Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Harder are taking their guests Thursday to the Sand Lake club where they will spend the week-end.

Mrs. E. M. Richer and Mrs. A. J. Moreau are leaving this morning on a vacation motor trip through Canada, during which they will visit in Quebec, St. Anne de Beaupre, Montreal and other points of interest. They also will stop in Buffalo for a visit with Mrs. Moreau's daughter, Mrs. A. J. Sherer, the former Amelia Moreau, and members of her family. The plan to be away for a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Parsons entertained at a family dinner Sunday at the John P. Norton cottage, Ford River road. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harrison and family of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Pellow and family of Negaunee, Ralph Carroll of Ontonagon, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Carroll and daughter, Barbara, and Mr. and Mrs. John P. Norton of this city.

Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Long have returned from a week-end trip to Newberry, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnston.

William and James Glavin of Los Angeles, Calif., are guests at the Coleman Nee residence.

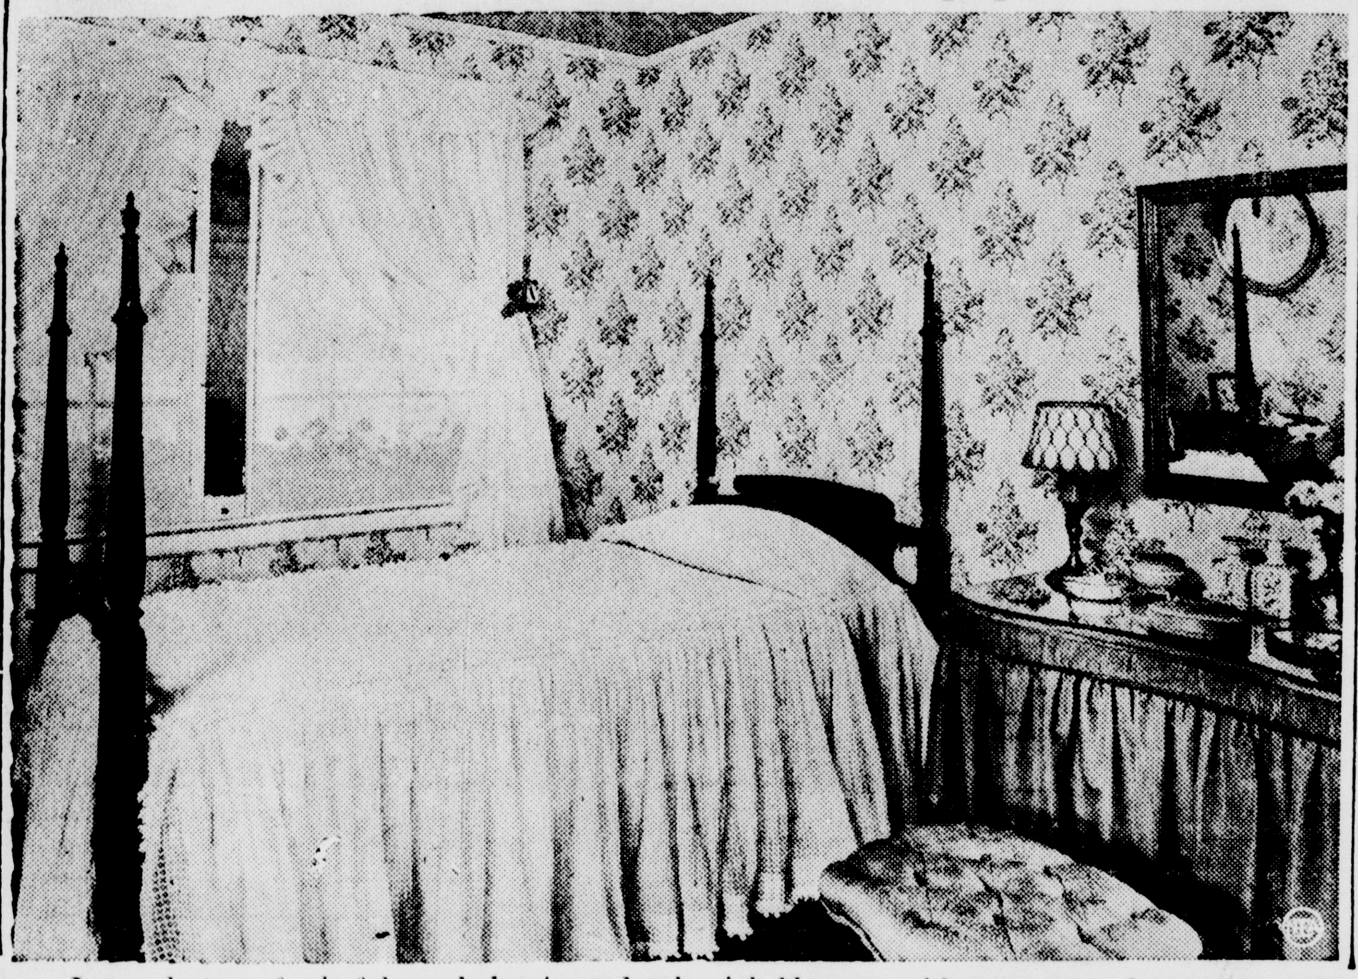
Mr. and Mrs. Leo Doty have returned from a two weeks trip to Yellowstone National Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Madigan and Mrs. Mars of Marinette visited friends here Sunday.

William Finkbeiner and Joseph Barabe have returned to Negaunee following a visit with friends here.

Frank Harrison has returned to Detroit after spending the past ten days here with his family at the John P. Norton cottage, Ford River road.

"Ladylike" Motifs Feature Wallpaper



Large clusters of colorful purple berries and pale pink blossoms with waxy green leaves on a pale cream background distinguish a smartly new wallpaper for a bedroom. The pattern is a shining example of the "pretty" trend in wallpaper designs.

BY MARIAN YOUNG
NEA Service Staff Writer

New York—The current trend in wallpaper design and color is away from the bizzare and decidedly away from anything that might come under the heading of "arty." The accent is on prettiness—but prettiness of a restrained, ladylike type rather than a pretty-pretty, little girl variety.

While the newest colors are very clean looking, they have a powdery, pastel quality that is eminently usable in decoration. Blues with a lavender cast, like periwinkle, have replaced to some extent the long-popular powder blues. Clear, pale pink and soft, chalk pinks are more widely used than peach tones. There is a revival of yellow, mostly in soft, off-shades—sometimes with a definite greenish cast.

Clear, dark brown has been replaced by browns with a cafe au lait cast and with terra cotta, which leans toward old rose. A few dark papers are shown, but these usually are enlivened with light, sharp colored patterns.

One who is tired of the rule about small-patterned papers being best for small rooms may choose a paper with large designs, providing the designs are exaggeratedly wide-spaced. In fact, it's possible for her to obtain mural effects which will make a small room seem much larger than it is.

* * *

For breakfast rooms, sun porches, informal dining rooms or hallways, a cream paper with pots of gay geraniums on window sills is new. For a nursery, one particularly nice paper illustrates admirably the new use of light, clear colors now in favor for children's rooms. In it, groups of bunnies, little gardeners and a sprinkling of vegetables are drawn, in poster technique, on a pale green background.

A striped sidewall paper, when completed with the borders at top and bottom, gives the illusion of canvas, stretched taut and held at the top with loops of flowers twining around a rod, at the bottom with bowknots of colored rope. This is amusing for a guest room, a dressin groom, bathroom or large clothes closet.

* * *

Appropriate for any room is a paper that was inspired by the eighteenth century Chinese panels brought to America from the Orient by sea captains.

For a less formal house, a paper in reddish rose, with small-scale motifs recalling eighteenth century life in America, would be perfect. And there's also a charming chintz paper, reminiscent of the stencilled designs applied to walls of New England houses in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth century.

There's a Good Reason You're Constipated!

When there's something wrong with you, the first rule is: get at the cause. If you are constipated, don't endure it first and cure it afterward. Find out what's giving you the trouble.

Chances are it's simple if you eat the super-refined foods most people do: meat, white bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If this is your trouble, you should eat a natural "bulk" producing food—such a one as the crunchy, toasted, ready-to-eat cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran. All-Bran is the ounce of prevention that's worth a pound of emergency relief. Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

Wauwatosa Girl Is The Bride Of Victor Blomstrom

Announcement of the wedding of Miss Irene Dundon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dundon of Wauwatosa Wis., and Victor A. Blomstrom of Milwaukee, formerly of this city, appeared in the society section of Sunday's Milwaukee Jurnal with a picture of the bride.

The ceremony was performed in St. Bernard's church, Rev. Fr. Joseph Blomstrom, brother of the bridegroom, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Blomstrom are now at home on West Chestnut street, Wauwatosa.

Foreign Newspapers Sold On News Stands, St. Louis Reports

BY STANLEY ST. LOUIS

Berlin—Here are a few things the writer learned today about Germany. It is a popular American conception that one cannot read a foreign newspaper containing anything unfavorable to the Third Reich, while in Germany. The rigid press censorship is supposed to function so smoothly as to render impossible, foreigners or German citizens reading other than an official government version of happenings abroad.

ST. LOUIS

For five days your correspondent has been taking particular notice of the newspapers, for sale daily, at hundreds of newsstands throughout Germany. The London Times, London Express, New York Times and the Paris edition of the New York Herald Tribune, to mention a few, can be purchased every day, right here in Berlin. That is a fact.

The writer just finished reading the official English version of Lord Halifax's denunciation of Germany's policies, as it appeared in the Paris issue of the New York Herald Tribune.

All Newspapers Available

It is nearly as easy to get, through newspapers for sale in Germany, a cross-section of world opinion and events as if one were in London. Last night, while sitting in a large Berlin restaurant, your correspondent read the latest sayings of Sir Winston Churchill, as they appeared in the London Express. Acrimonious editorials, with Germany on the receiving end, comparable to what appears in some of the most anti-German publications in the United States, can also be read within Germany.

The Herald-Tribune, printed in France, doesn't pull punches when mentioning Germany. The writer has purchased this paper every day since arriving here. At the same time one can actually see many copies of this newspaper and English publications being read in public places by German citizens.

Having no knowledge of the German language, it is just as difficult for the writer to get the German slant on current international situations from the local press as it would be if he were in the United States. For this reason it is impossible to state whether a large part of the news printed for German consumption is or is not devoted to propaganda.

However, in conversations with German citizens the writer has been told that a goodly portion of all German news IS propagandized, that the readers are fully aware of it and have been all along, that they take some of what they read with a large grain of salt, that it is their belief that German newspapers print the news every bit as honestly and impartially as the English papers and finally, if they are not satisfied with what they read in local papers there is nothing to prevent them from buying English publications and getting the other side of the story.

If the writer isn't, because of inability to read German, able to distinguish German propaganda, there is nothing very complicated about recognizing a bit of English whitewash, subtle as it may be. Last night there appeared in the English papers, further reference to Prime Minister Chamberlain's efforts to line up an alliance of nations along the German border. This set up, from the outset, has, with shrewd cleverness been referred to by England as the "Peace Front". In Germany it is termed a policy of "Encirclement".

Since shortly after the Munich Crisis these two opposite terms, labelling the same thing, have become thoroughly familiar to newspaper readers all over the world. From what was learned in the three neutral European states, Sweden, Finland and Denmark, it is safe to say that public opinion is evenly divided as to whether Chamberlain's policy tends towards peace in Europe or will actually precipitate war.

Not a Free Press

It is not the intention, here, to in any way infer that Germany has a free press. She most assuredly has not. As far as the writer can recall, the German government has never claimed such a condition exists. But being able to buy foreign newspapers in Germany does prove, at least to the writer's complete satisfaction, that reports of an entire nation of peoples kept in darkest oblivion of what is going on in the outside world, are, not only gross exaggerations but in most instances outright misstatements of fact.

The writer cannot conceive of anyone entering this country with a mind more typically moulded into prejudice, more anti-Nazi, more critical and suspicious of everything the Third Reich stands for, than himself. Few are the people able to write on any subject, entirely free of bias, and to this your correspondent is no exception. Therefore, anything written even slightly favorable towards Germany comes, to a certain extent, in the form of an admission of previous error. Rare, indeed, are those who relish admitting they were wrong. The writer, by no stretch of imagination, has ever been able to place himself in this exalted category. Nevertheless, whatever one's preconceived convictions may be there is no effective substitute for seeing things with one's own eyes. Seeing is believing.

The depths to which the writer had been misled regarding the newspaper situation in Germany, came as a rude shock. In two months of travel, that one item registered the most upsetting surprise Europe has, so far, provided.

Teachers Reminded Of Change In Filing Oath of Allegiance

Act 54 of the Public Acts of 1939 changes the method of filing the oath of allegiance required of teachers. The act becomes effective on September 29, 1939. Certain questions of interpretation have been submitted to Attorney General Reed. His summarized opinions as released by C. P. Titus are as follows:

1. Will an oath filed with the Superintendent of Public Instruction before September 29, 1939 be properly filed?

No oath filed before September 29, 1939 is properly filed. No oath should be sent in for filing before that date.

2. May oaths be filed with the Superintendent of Public Instruction after the expiration of the 90 day period provided for filing oaths by the act?

Oaths will not be accepted for filing after the expiration of the 90 day period following September 29, 1939. The first date on which teachers' oaths may be filed will be September 29, 1939. All oaths must be filed before December 28, 1939.

3. What effect will failure to take and to file the oath of allegiance within the 90 day period have on the certificate of the teacher failing to file?

The certificate of a teacher who fails to take and to file the oath within the 90 day period is no longer valid nor legal. Such a teacher will not hold a legal certificate of qualification and therefore can make no contract to teach in the state of Michigan.

Farmers Planning To Attend Roundup At Chatham Aug. 4

Munising, July 17—Many Alger county farmers will attend the annual farmers' round-up held at the Michigan State college agricultural sub-station at Chatham on August 4. J. G. Wells Jr., superintendent of the station invites farm families to visit the station and see the experimental work being done and attend the program being arranged for them on August 4.

Karl Knaus, of the U. S. department of agriculture, office of cooperative extension work, Washington, D. C., will be the principal speaker. Knaus was agricultural agent in Menominee county from 1923 to 1927 and was superintendent of the Menominee county agricultural school from 1927 to 1929. He left there to take a post as supervisor of agricultural agents in Indiana. He has held his present position for the past seven years.

Visits to inspect the experimental work in farm crops and to the vegetable experimental plots, inspection of the Holstein dairy herd, the Belgian horse herd, the Hampshire and cross-bred sheep flock, the Yorkshire hogs and the White Leghorn and New Hampshire chickens will be a part of the things many will want to see.

The first home economics program will begin at 10 a. m. and the speaking program will begin immediately after lunch.

MUNISING BRIEFS

The Cleveland Cliffs steamer, the Presque Isle, is unloading a cargo of coal at the Munising Paper company dock.

The Mather high school band will meet in the high school auditorium on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

SO WHAT!

Sam and I were walking along the road here in Sandisfield in the direction of Spectacle Pond. The road had not been scraped this year and made hard walking. This is an off year, without any election, so no money was sent down our way for road work in spite of the floods of last autumn. However, as the road is no good even if it is scraped, we are used to it.

Sam plucked a wild tiger lily and walked with it before him like a Bronx Oscar Wilde.

"I should worry and get a boil if a President don't know when to quit. That's his business. Maybe it's his wife's headache. But it don't make me sick. Because if I could take it for ten years I can take it for four more." Sam was more pessimistic than I ever saw him.

• • •

"You seem to be terribly blue, Sam," I said. "Why should we talk politics? Let's discuss something sensible, like nature, the flowers, the weather."

"Maybe we should talk about how 'Time' magazine handed you a bouquet by calling you a 'star-spangled spieler for capitalism.' I figure that one must've been worth quite a piece of money for you in free advertising," Sam said with a touch of sarcasm.

"Sure, Sam. Every knock's a boost. It all depends on who does the knocking. From 'Time' it's a boost," I replied.

"So that puts you one ahead. Say, you gotta get used to that kind of stuff, too. All the wise guys spend their time smearing. I'll bet you this flower against John Barrymore's luck with females that this 1940 election will be the most smearing campaign that ever was held in any country in this world," said Sam.

"Figure it yourself. They will tell all kinds of fancy stories about Roosevelt, how he looks in the looking glass in the morning and says, Is I really F. D. R. or something else. Then they will tell about him and his frau and his kiddies. Then they will talk about how Jim Farley was a fall guy and Jack Garner a fossilized product of Texas.

"So Tommy the Cork will get sore and he will let out a yell like an Irishman who's been to a wake for five or six hours and feels it. He will call business men, lawyers, doctors, newspaper men, columnists and all the rest of America every kind of bums. Only he ain't a bum. You know that kind of a guy. Only he ain't a bum, see!"

"Yes, I see," I replied.

"Well, maybe Tommy the Cork will find six more Americans who ain't bums. Maybe his list would have on it F. D. R., Walter Winchell, Heywood Broun, Earl Browder, Benny Cohn and—No, it must be only five, 'cause I can't think of the sixth. All the rest is bums except the W. P. A., and they're only paid voters," Sam continued.

• • •

"Whew!" I looked keenly at Sam. "You're in a blue funk today. You've got a hate on that can be cut with a knife."

"No!" Sam replied as we sat on the steps of the little abandoned red schoolhouse. "No! I don't hate nobody and nothing. Only let me show you some figures. When this big trouble started I was thirty-five years old. Now I am forty-five. Just figure that for yourself. The ten best years of my life have gone like a zip worrying what F. D. R. would do to the Supreme Court, would Hitler make war, is Stalin stalling or is he in Hitler's corner on the sly, is the W. P. A. gonna run America or have the paying citizens something to say, will Roosevelt make a fireside chat or has he shut up his radio program, will the customers ever buy again or are we to spend more taxes. Ten years now I got nothing to do but worry is it or isn't it. You know what I mean? There's nothing sure . Nothing is usual.

"All right. So I figure, well we'll come to 1940 and we'll make a change. Who? What? I should worry. Let it be Garner, Farley, Taft, Vandenberg, Dewey, anybody—just so we have a change and we go back to work. Maybe I got five years, maybe ten, to stage a comeback and make something for my old age. But no! This guy Tommy the Cork ain't satisfied. And this 'Honest' Ickes ain't satisfied. They must hold their jobs. So they stick a bug in F. D. R.'s ear and he will run for a third term.

• • •

"When he's finished, then, I will be nearly fifty and kapoot! It's all over. So I'll go on the W. P. A. and be a paid voter. What else can I do?"

"Sam, you know that I'm as much against Roosevelt as you are for a third term. But I'm not so worried. There's always Congress to keep him in line." I hoped to cheer Sam a bit.

"That's what you say," Sam responded. "It's like them silver Senators. He gave them some taffy, so they sell out the U. S. A. Why, when I think what those boys will do for a few chunks of silver, I'm just about ready to say, 'Stalin, Hitler and Mussolini, have it your own way.' Of all the lousy, double-crossing, smelly sell-out, that silver deal was nearly the worst. So you say I should trust the last ten years of my active business life to a gang like that which would cut its own grandmother's neck if it got the right kind of a silver deal!

"No, sir! I don't trust nobody no more," Sam added ruefully.

"Then, why bother about a change? If you don't trust anybody, why change from Roosevelt the known to President X the unknown?" I thought that was a stumper for Sam.

• • •

"Can't you see as far as your nose?" Sam asked. "Here's a gang that's got so fat in office they can't tell if they're servants of the people or little Hitlers. That gang needs to go back home to get used to being natural again. Any new crowd would do better because they would never be sure of that mandate which Tommy the Cork figures I gave him. I never give Tommy nothing. I didn't vote for or against him. I never heard his name till he sticks out like a wart and then I couldn't figure who let him in. But now I know he's the boss if it's a third term, because if a guy is so strong that he can even put a K. O. on Jim Farley, he must be some baby. But he ain't my baby, I don't want none of him."

"Oh!" I answered, "what they say about Tommy Corcoran, they said about Moley and Tugwell. And when they were given their walking papers, things went on as before."

"That's true," Sam replied. "After Moley quit it got worse. So we said it must be Tugwell. So Tugwell was given a job in a molasses factory and things got worse. That's why I figure it's the old boy himself. I figure he better go up to his place in Hyde Park and eat hot dogs like he give the King of England when he came here to see the World's Fair. What the hell, if Hoover can go around making speeches F. D. R. can get a radio contract. Any cigarette company would take him on. And we could hear him every week saying:

• • •

"'My friends, when I was bossing the White House it was all hunkey-dorey. Now that they got that monkey-faced bozo there it's all wet. But if you smoke my brand of cigarettes you will never bite your tongue. So what?'"

"Well, Sam," I continued, "so you've got it all fixed."

"Yeah!" Sam replied sadly. "But don't you count on its staying fixed. Some guys like to stay home and some like their pictures in the papers. F. D. R. don't like to stay home."

CAST OF CHARACTERS

ROSELEE DALE and CHRISTINE PALMER—Partners in a summer tourist venture at Goldcrest.

DICK BANCROFT and FRANKLIN LARRAWAY — They also found an interest in Goldcrest.

Yesterday: Franklin checks fingerprints and finds those in the Goldcrest bank are those of Carl Quait, bank robber, ex-convict. Franklin hurries back to Goldcrest to warn his co-workers. He does not tell the sheriff of his discovery.

CHAPTER X

The wail would have been frightening if it had been heard on Broadway in daylight, but here in a 50-year-old ghost town by darkness it was positively terrifying.

"Ro-se-lee!" murmured Christine, tremulously, grasping her friend's arm.

Both girls sat tense for a long moment, listening, staring. The jail dungeon remained a black splotch on the hillside, but shortly after the wail came a new sort of noise. This time it was a thumping and a guttural melange of voices as of men laboring under stress.

Clank! Something heavy struck the jail's metal bars. Somebody cursed.

"Dick's in there!" Roselee breathed. "Dick! . . . In there!"

Of one accord the girls got to their feet and started toward the place, half walking, half running, fearfully, anxious yet afraid.

Splat! Plop and thump and heave and groan—the sound now was distinctly that of men fighting. The girls stood as if spellbound, peering inside the jail doorway, not daring to enter but unable to leave. They could see nothing in the darkness but the noises made a vivid picture themselves. For one thing Dick Bancroft's words began to become intelligible in snatches.

"O . . . kay . . . brother . . . you . . . unh! . . . you . . . asked for it . . . now . . . now you're . . . gonna . . . GET it!"

• • •

The "get" was punctuated by what must have been a hard fist blow. Instantly came a quick slap-slap-slap as of footsteps, and a crash into a wall. Iron grillwork rattled. Dust too was now floating even to the outer door of the jail.

It must have been Dick who had got in that hard blow. After the grillwork clanged, comparative quiet reigned for several seconds. The girls could hear sounds of breathing, almost a gasping in fact. But the commotion at least was ended.

"Oouw, you're . . . breaking it!"

This outcry was from a man obviously in intense pain. They did not recognize the voice.

"You bet I'll break it!" Dick exclaimed, then paused to breathe heavily again. "I'll break it . . . unless . . . you do as I . . . say. Whew!"

"Let . . . let me up." The other combatant really was suffering, his voice revealed.

Dick waited several seconds the better to catch his breath before answering. He could talk more distinctly then. "Not—not until I find out who you are, what's your name."

No answer was heard, and then there was a sudden slap, hard, and another outcry.

"You tried scaring the wrong guy, mister," Dick scpoke again then. "You sounded like a ghost, but you don't feel like one. So you finally came for the money, eh?"

"No. What money?"

"What do you mean, 'what money'? I'm not dumb. Talk sense—or else!"

"For God's sake—unh-h-h-h—what do you want—to know?"

"Everything. Talk, man, or I'll break it! Talk!"

"My name . . . is . . . is . . . oh God, man, don't! My name is Packman, from the Western Metals and Minerals Corporation . . . I came—to scare the Dale girl!"

"You did what? You—are you L. J. Packman, M. and M. field manager?"

"Yes!"

"You better be able to prove it, mister, or it'll be too bad. Did you put that money there?"

"I don't know anything about any money." He was still breathing heavily, speaking brokenly, in great strain. "Our lawyer—tried to—tried to pay the Dale girl a profit—she wouldn't—she turned us down."

"Go on," commanded Dick.

"I came in, with some tourists, to look around. I heard her say—heard her say she would clean out the jail tonight. So I—I came to try to scare her away. Frighten her."

• • •

There was a long pause.

"I don't get it," said Dick, then.

"She wouldn't sell. Goldcrest has valuable ore. Two assays were sent to us from Briscoe and Son. Both said the ore from here was—valuable. One amounts to a rich strike. Now—let me go! Let me—"

"Well I'll be—I'll be . . ." Dick went on excitedly. "You're really Packman, eh? I'll know you in the light. It better be true. So there were two assay reports from Briscoe. How come two? Talk!"

"I don't—know! One was on reworked ore. Old ore. One was a new specimen."

"Um. What'd the old ore show? How rich?"

"Six dollars—a—ton." He was still breathing in gasps.

"Six bucks! Sa-a-ay! What the devil did Briscoe send it to you for? You sold Goldcrest. Oh! I get it. You wanted to scare Roselee Dale into selling out again—So the company could cash in on the new discovery. Well listen, buddy, I sent in those samples. One of them, at least. I don't know about a second one but I knew about reworking that old ore. I know it can be reworked at even a dollar a ton profitably. I was going to investigate it thoroughly and see what kind of deal we might make with Western M. and M., but I'll be doggoned if I have anything at all to do with you now. I don't like your kind of baseball. Now if I take you out of here and you aren't Packman, your name's mud, and your neck's going to be. Understand? But if you are Packman, then I don't want anything else to do with you. I aim to kick you down this mountain slope, and if you ever come back here again I'll—well.

"Well, move along now," Dick finished. "And no monkey business if you wanta live and do well."

There were sounds of bodies moving, and the two girls instinctively jumped back out of sight in the shadows beside a boulder. Dick and his adversary came outside, Dick grasping the other man's arms in a wrestler's hold.

"You mentioned money," the other man said. "I could pay you."

"Skip that," Dick answered. "I wasn't hinting about any bribe mister. Yeah, you're Packman, I can see. But I wouldn't have thought it of you. Now start running, and when you stop you'd better be out of sight, forever."

He gave the man a shove and Packman began running, indeed. The girls, hardly daring to breathe, saw Dick stand arms akimbo for a long minute watching the other man flee. Then Dick slapped his hands together as if cleansing them, turned and walked back into the ghost town jail.

PAINTING SMOKESTACKS

Marquette—Add unusual occupations—that of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Randall, of Phoenix Ariz., who paint tall smokestacks.

The Randalls, who attracted a neck-craning crowd of the curious in the downtown district yesterday, where they were painting the stack of a commercial plant, have also "done" the gas plant stack and that of the E. J. Longyear company on the east side.

The Randalls work together. He goes up on his bosun's ladder, wields the brush. She stays below, sends up materials. Only in an emergency does she do any painting herself. Last week in Calumet there was one of those emergencies, and she showed a scar on her leg, which she got on the scorching stack.

They lead a gypsy life nine months of the year, starting from their home in Arizona and swinging in a great circle about the country, zig-zagging to those towns where work can be found. They have no advance agent—"we just go in, find a stack that needs painting, and ask for the job," said Mrs. Randall.

Q. Who owns Middleton Place near Charleston S. C.? M. L. W.

A. The South Carolina State Historical Society says that Middleton Place on the Ashley River belongs to Mr. J. J. Pringle Smith, who inherited the estate.

PARADE TO BE VERY COLORFUL

Numerous Floats Will Depicit Phases of Outdoor Life

Final plans and details of Manistique's Blueberry Festival parade to be held Monday noon have been completed and from all present indications the parade promises to be one of the many outstanding highlights of the three day activities.

According to Lenord Harbick, parade chairman, the floats will depict various phases of out door life and attractions native to Manistique and surrounding areas as well as a complete presentation of the main blueberry festival theme. Floats are being entered by industrial, commercial and civic groups.

The parade will form on the Westside at the corner of Deer and Fifth street and proceed to the east side of town. Dr. A. R. Tucker has been appointed mounted marshal of the parade. Following the marshal will be Queen Ann and her court with the Escanaba Drum and Bugle Corps forming the Queen's honor guard. To complete the parade will be the floats, bands, conservation corps enrollees, conservation department, nursery, and girl and boy scout troops from Manistique.

One of the outstanding wild-life floats in the parade will be a huge live bear from a nearby tourist camp that has attracted considerable attention of tourists and local residents for his antics in his cage when given a bottle of pop or candy bar to consume. Several other captive animals have been promised for the parade. These animals in their cages will be mounted on trucks and conspiciously displayed in the parade so that everyone along the route will have an opportunity of getting a close up view of the animal's first ride in captivity.

The Kiddies parade will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday and five cash prizes will be offered for the best decorated doll buggy, cart, wagon, tricycle, pets or any other suitable entry will be eligible for prizes. The committee stated yesterday that only children under 12 years of age will be permitted to enter. The parade will form in front of the High School building and will be headed by the high school band. It will travel to the corner of Oak at Maple streets and disband at that point.

Prize money for Monday's parade will be divided into two groups. One for the best decorated floats and one division for the most comic entry.

The concession committee of the festival has announced that anyone wanting to establish a concession may do so free of charge by contacting Edwin Sundell, chairman of the concession committee.

In connection with Monday's activities eight pupils of Helen Cloutier's school of dancing will present a revue of tap and acrobatic numbers at the evening show.

CARDS DEFEAT GLADSTONE 8-3

14 Bingles Give Manistique Crew Safe Margin

The Manistique Cardinals unleashing a fourteen hit attack on three Gladstone pitchers in Sunday's game won the ballgame 8 to 3. Chartier, Cardinals pitcher, held Gladstone batsman to 10 hits while Manistique clubbers connected for 14 safeties. Three Gladstone hurlers were unable to stop Manistique's offensive and in the fifth inning the Cardinals sewed up the game on a rally that netted four runs.

FIRES RAVISH FOREST LANDS

95 Acres Burned Over Between Thompson and Garden

Two forest fires about 10 miles south of Thompson along the old Garden road destroyed about 95 acres of slash and second growth Sunday afternoon and evening before conservation officers and a crew of 60 men could get the flames under control. The fires were near Poodle Pete Creek and the Bursaw Creek. Huge billows of smoke could be seen for miles around and attracted many persons to the scene.

About 20 men were retained on patrol duty today to complete extinguishing yesterday's fires and to watch the area for any new outbreaks.

Conservation officials warned that the woods are exceedingly dry and persons fishing or picnicing where there is danger of fire should be doubly cautious in order to avoid starting serious fires.

PAUL OLSON IS ROTE SPEAKER

Musical Numbers, Talk Greatly Enjoyed By Club

Rotarians of Gladstone were treated to an enjoyable and informative program Monday noon when Paul Olson, personable and likable young blind lad of this city appeared before the club.

Paul presented groups of selections both on the violin and piano. Accompanied on the piano, Paul opened the musical portion of the program with two violin numbers, "Berceuse" from Jocelyn and Handel's well-known "Largo" and then seated at the piano offered parts of "Liebestraum" by Liszt, "Song Without Words" by Mendelssohn and a composition by Bach. He closed with another violin solo, Drdla's "Souvenir."

Speaking before the group Paul said that in ancient times in China the blind were soothsayers while later in Egypt the blind were purchased, the men being placed about the cities as beggars with their owners collecting the results of their efforts while the girls and women were used as servants.

About 200 years ago the first school for the blind was established in France upon the beseeching of one Valentine Haye before the then king of that country. It was only a short time when other countries of continental Europe followed suit.

The first school for persons with sight handicaps established in this country was in 1848 at Boston, Mass., and it was an instructor from this institution that tutored the famed Helen Keller.

In Michigan such an institution was established in 1854 but at the start it was a combination unit which cared for blind, deaf and dumb and mentally incompetent persons.

In 1865 separate institutions were founded, and persons cared for according to the handicap with which they were afflicted.

At Lansing there are facilities for teaching blind youths from kindergarten through high school. Courses of instruction are similar, the speaker said, except that in high school chemistry and physics are not used, shop work or some type of manual training being substituted. A high class music department is also conducted and it was here that Paul learned to play the violin and piano.

If marks secured in the primary and high school classes are satisfactory, students of the blind school may continue study at Michigan State the speaker stated.

Paul upon graduation from the School for Blind this spring was awarded a four year scholarship at Michigan State.

Before closing Paul commented that many motorists apparently do not realize the significance of the red-tipped white canes which are distributed to the blind by the Lions club and suggested that some measures be taken to acquaint drivers with the fact that the white cane symbolizes blindness so that they may take due precaution upon seeing a person carrying one.

Mrs. Alton Spaulding and daughter, Beverly, Bridgman, Mich., are visiting here at the Charles Erickson home on Delta avenue. Mrs. Spaulding is the former Agnes Mathison and a former resident of Gladstone.

Auxiliary Meeting—The Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Firemen and Enginemen will have its regular meeting at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joseph Shandonay, 1321 Superior avenue.

Marvin Winchester returned yesterday morning from Minneapolis following a several days visit with relatives. He was accompanied on his return by Donald Carr of Minneapolis who will spend several days at the Winchester home.

Crash Victim

John Radan Jr., above, of Bessemer, Pa., nephew of Mrs. Katherine Stambulich, 616 North Tenth street, Gladstone, was drowned in the Atlantic ocean July 15 when a coast guard hydroplane crashed after a mercy flight to bring in a sick sailor from a ketch 150 miles out at sea, southwest of New York. The flying boat sank before Radan's body and those of two other men could be removed. He was an aviation pilot.

MASS MEETING HERE TONIGHT

Will Outline Case for Resumption of Train Runs

Arguments to be presented before the Michigan Public Service commission in an effort to have the body order the Soo Line railroad to resume passenger train runs 86 and 87 will be outlined and discussed at a public meeting to be held tonight at the Legion hall.

The gathering has been called by Clarence LaFave, City club president. A regular meeting of the club will be held preceding the mass meeting. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock.

All persons, whether or not members of the club, may attend the dinner but are requested to make reservations with Secretary Wm. Moreau, Phone No. 236. Persons interested in the train abandonment protest but who do not care to attend the dinner may gather at the hall at 7:30 o'clock.

A public hearing on the abandonment has been called by the Michigan Public Service commission for Thursday and is to be conducted at the city hall, starting at 10 o'clock in the morning. Arguments both for and against the railroad action will be heard at that time.

Social

Co-op Picnic

Members of the Gladstone Co-op club will enjoy a picnic beginning at 7 o'clock this evening at the Pioneer Trail Park. Refreshments will be served. Games will be the main diversion of the evening, it was stated.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Brauseau, Menominee, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wheaton, Indian Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Loran Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jacobson and Mr. and Mrs. Wheaton.

CLUB ACTIVE IN T-B WORK

Welfare Agency Spends $250 to Combat Disease

Considerable work in fighting the dreaded disease, tuberculosis, has been done in the past year by the Child's Welfare club, according to the report of Mrs. J. D. Staple, chairman of the Christmas Sale sale committee.

In all over $250 was spent in various phases of the work.

This included payment for 104 X-rays taken of youths who proved reactors to the test. The X-raying was done at Pinecrest sanatorium at Powers and the club paid for the transportation of children to and from Powers.

In addition milk was provided for a tubercular patient and gas and oil was provided for use in transporting a patient to Powers for treatment.

The work is financed by the proceeds from the T-B seal sale conducted each Christmas season by the Welfare club.

Brampton Youth Is Saved from Drowning

Quick action on the part of Lifeguard Leo Anderson and Frank Lusic saved Robert Coppick, 20, Brampton, from drowning at the local bathing beach on Sunday evening.

Coppick with three other companions started swimming out to the diving platform about 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening and when part way out he turned around and started shoreward. Shortly after he called for help.

Anderson and Lusic rushed in a boat to the spot and Coppick collapsed as he was being brought into the craft. He suffered badly from shock after being brought to shore and a local physician was summoned.

Autos Collide; Five Uninjured

Five persons escaped injury in an auto collision early Monday morning near the intersection of M-35 and US-2 here that badly damaged the two vehicles.

Autos involved were one owned by Roy Olson, Escanaba, and driven by Ewald Kallerson of Ensign and another owner and driven by Roy DeGrand of Cornell.

According to the police report Kallerson was driving north on US-2 when DeGrand driving east came onto US-2 without making a stop, swung southward in a wide turn and at the time of the collision was on the wrong side of the road.

Occupants of the car driven by Kallerson were Arnold Brannstrom, Jack Heric and Catherine Stenlund. DeGrand was alone.

Louis To Fight 20 Round Title Battle At Detroit

BRIGGS STADIUM GETS BIG BOUT

Bob Pastor Signed Up to Tackle Bomber On Sept. 20

BY DALE STAFFORD

Detroit, July 17 (AP)—For the first time in 20 years the heavyweight boxing championship of the world will be decided in a scheduled bout of 20 rounds when titlist Joe Louis and Bob Pastor, of New York, step in the ring at Briggs Stadium here the night of Wednesday, September 20.

Promoter Mike Jacobs, of New York, who signed both principals some time ago, came to Detroit today, completed negotiations for renting Briggs Stadium and announced the date of the contest which will mark Louis' eighth defense of his crown, more title fights than any other heavyweight champion has engaged in.

Suits Joe

The Michigan boxing law permits title fights to be of 20 rounds duration and at the request of Pastor and his manager, James J. Johnston, Jacobs ordered the contest to be of this scheduled length.

Told that a 20 round bout had been arranged for him just as he completed a round of golf, Louis said:

"I don't care if its 20 rounds or 50 rounds because this time I'll set my own limit."

Louis and Pastor fought in New York five months before Joe won the title from James J. Braddock with the present champion triumphing in 10 rounds. Following the bout Louis' handlers accused Pastor of "bicycling" in an effort to make the Brown Bomber look bad. This charge was denied by Pastor and Johnston as they clamored for a rematch.

Predicts $500,000 Gate

Financial terms of the bout as announced by Jacobs were:

(1) Forty per cent of the net receipts for Louis.

(2) Seventeen-and-one-half of the net receipts for Pastor.

(3) Nine per cent of the net receipts to owner Walter O. Briggs, Sr., of the Detroit Tigers, for the use of the stadium which has a seating capacity of 80,000 for a boxing match.

Jacobs predicted today that the fight, the first heavyweight championship ever to be held in Detroit, would draw a gross gate of between $400,000 and $500,000.

"I already have orders for more than 3,000 tickets," Jacobs said. "Boxing history shows that the first heavyweight championship fights ever held in a city have always drawn very well at the gate.."

Ticket prices will range from $2 to $27.50.

Train In Michigan

John J. Hettche, chairman of the Michigan athletic board of control, said both fighters would be required to start training in Michigan not later than August 21 and that on this date the two men would undergo physical examinations from doctors he will select. Hettche issued Jacobs a Michigan matchmaker's license today. The latter will use the license of Olympia, Inc., which is controled by James Norris, Chicago grain broker who also owns part of Madison Square Garden in New York. William (Scotty) Monteith, manager of former featherweight champion Johnny Dundee, will serve as the "front man" for the bout, Michigan law requiring that a state resident be the promoter.

Louis, a Detroit boy, has fought here only once since deserting the amateur ranks. In that bout he won a decision over Natie Brown, Washington veteran. Pastor's only Detroit appearance occurred late in the spring when he pounded out a 10-round decision over Roscoe Toles, Detroit negro, who lives in Louis' neighborhood.

Last One In 1919

The last heavyweight championship fight to go 20 rounds was the contest on June 27, 1914, in which Jack Johnson successfully defended his title against Frank Moran in Paris.

The last scheduled 20 round heavyweight title go was that in which Jack Dempsey lifted the title from Jess Willard at Toledo July 4, 1919.

Jacobs was accompanied here today by Sol Strauss, his attorney, and Lionel Levy, architect, who lays out seating arrangements for the Jacobs promotions. Jacobs and Strauss left by airplane tonight for Philadelphia. They plan to return here Wednesday with Pastor and Johnston for a formal signing for the contest.

EAGLES BEAT MUNISING, 10-3

Locals Continue Winning Ways In Rainbow Loop Here On Sunday

The Escanaba Eagles continued their winning ways in the Rainbow league Sunday, defeating Munising, 10-3, for their fourth consecutive victory over the Lions.

The Eagles capitalized on six Munising errors to chalk up a lead of 10-0 in the first eight innings, scoring their largest burst in the fourth with four runs. Meanwhile, Russ Greenless, local southpaw, was holding the Munising batters well in hand, striking out 13 batters. With the game well in hand, Greenless let up in the ninth and allowed three runs.

The locals banged out nine hits off the pitching of Malone while Greenless gave up seven.

Escanaba will play Gladstone next week.

MAROONS LOSE TO D-M TEAM

Ex-League Champs Battle Trenary to 13 Inning Decision

Holding the D-M league Trenary squad for 13 innings of hard-fought baseball, the Escanaba Maroons, last year's junior league champions, succumbed in the last frame to a one-count decision to lose 5-4.

Trenary held a four to one lead in the sixth inning, the Maroons taking their single tally in the first. In the ninth, however, the local boys made a desperate stand and cracked their opponents' defense for three scores, to tie the game at four-all. The game went three-over-time innings without a score on either side, when finally the Trenary aggregation shoved a single run past the tiring Escanaba defenders to put the game on ice in the last of the thirteenth.

Utt accounted for two of the Maroons' seven hits, while Thorin, L. Grenier, F. Grenier, Balland, and Boyle each came through with one. Boyle's clout a triple. C. Flynn and N. Methot stood out in the batting department for the winners, with three hits apiece, and Brown, G. Hykinen, and Hawley followed with one apiece. G. Hykinen stretcher his hit to a two-bagger.

Maroon pitcher Balland, playing all the way, struck out seven opposing batters while Chenail and Latvala, who split the job for Trenary, accounted for seventeen between them, Chenail whiffing five and Latvala twelve.

PERKINS TIPS ROCK SPARTANS

Game Featured By Many Hits and Errors; Score, 13-8

Rock, Mich., July 17.—Perkins and Rock hooked up in one of their typical hectic encounters here Sunday and when it was over, Perkins had a 13-8 victory to its credit.

The game was a free scoring affair with plenty of hits and almost as many errors. Perkins got off to a four run lead in the first half of the opening inning and held a lead throughout but Rock kept pecking away at the lead enough to make the game interesting.

Burdick and Lancour of Perkins and H. Pilon of Rock led the attacks of both clubs with three hits each.

TIGERS POUND RED SOX, 13-6

Team Plays Flawless Ball; Buck Newsom Goes Route

Detroit, July 17 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers pounded three Boston pitchers for 15 hits today to down the Red Sox 13 to 6 and snap their string of 12 consecutive victories.

Buck Newsom went all the way on the mound for Detroit. Although he was touched for 10 hits and walked six men he had little difficulty winning his 10th victory.

Woody Rich, Boston's starting pitcher, was pounded out in the third inning, when Detroit staged a six-run rally. Joe Heving and Bill Sayles followed but were unable to stem the tide.

Earl Averill hit two home runs and George Tebbetts a home run, a double and a single for Detroit. The latter drove in five runs. Ted Williams hit a homer for the Sox.

Boston lost a full game to the league leading New York Yankees, victorious at Cleveland.

Gehringer Back

After making 12 errors in Sunday's double header the Tigers performed flawlessly in the field today. Charley Gehringer was back at second base for full time duty for the first time since he was injured June 26. Bill Rogell was at shortstop and started two double plays. Gehringer was pivot man on both.

The Tigers went to work on Young Rich in the third inning and before it was over they had six runs and Boston had a new pitcher, Heving. The Tiger splurge was featured by Averill's seventh homer and Tebbetts' first. Both came with one man on and they proved to be the winning hit.

In the sixth inning the Tigers exploded again and picked up five runs. Once more Tebbetts was the big man, his single coming with the bases loaded and producing two runs. Sales was the victim of this rally and Manager Joe Cronin left him in to weather the storm.

Washington Next

In the seventh Cronin substituted three reserve infielders and took himself, Jimmy Foxx and Bobby Doerr out of the lineup for a rest. Cronin was injured in the second inning when he collided with Pinky Higgins in a play at second base. He was unconscious for a few minutes and suffered a cut lip but remained in action until it was apparent the Sox could not win.

The Detroit victory coupled with Cleveland's defeat put the Tigers within a half game of the Indians and fourth place. Detroit has won 40 and lost 40.

The Washington club arrives tomorrow for a three-day stay. Tommy Bridges or Schoolboy Rowe was to pitch for Detroit. Joe Krakauskas was scheduled to pitch for the Griffs.

Dean In Doghouse, Blames Phone Call

BY TOM SILER

Chicago, July 17. (AP) — Dizzy Dean came home today to puncture all those wild stories about his cut left arm, explaining the wound was the result, of all things, of a midnight telephone call from brother Paul, St. Louis Cardinals pitcher.

Sent home Sunday after Gabby Hartnett, Chicago Cub manager, discovered the injury, Dean and his wife, Patricia, hopped off the train this afternoon somewhat amazed at the mystery and conflicting rumors caused by the wound.

Dizzy's return was not explained by club officials in New York, where the Cubs, already handicapped by injuries to other players are on a road trip.

"Why, this is the silliest thing I ever heard of," he told the swarm of baseball writers at the station. "Boys, you'll laugh your heads off when you get a look at this scratch on my arm.

"Fight? There wasn't any fight. And I wasn't drinking either. It happened right in the hotel. We went to our room at about 11:15 o'clock (Saturday night). We were in bed when the phone rang, and, like a dummy, instead of turning the light on first I made a grab for the phone in the dark.

"I knocked over the lamp on the stand between the twin beds. In trying to grab it I scraped my arm against the corner of a glass top bedstand. My brother, Paul, who was in town with the Cards, was the guy who was calling, doggone him."

Someone suggested there had been reports of a domestic squabble but Dean retorted his wife "has better control than that. If she was throwin' anything, it would have been a beanball, sure."

Dr. John F. Davis, Cubs' physician, said after examining the arm, that "It's just a superficial wound. At the deepest point it isn't more than one-fourth inch deep. In fact, he could go out there and pitch today." Dr. Davis added Dean's explanation was logical and that the wound could have been made in that manner.

Dean said all the furore would have been missed if Hartnett had allowed him to go to the double-header at Brooklyn Sunday.

"I guess I'm just in the doghouse," he added, gloomily.

The big right-hander who has been an in-and-outer this season did not talk with Cubs owner Phil Wrigley today. He expects to remain at home until the Cubs return from their eastern trip.

WALLACE TOPS CLOVERLAND

Win First Half Pennant With Three Teams Tied for Second

The Cloverland league which is made up of Menominee county teams for the most part, swung into the second half of its schedule last Sunday.

The second half schedule was set back two weeks in order to allow some of the teams in the league to make up some of their games that were rained out during the first part of the season.

The strong Wallace team won the first half title, only losing one game while winning five. Camp Wells, Daggett and Spalding all finished in a tie for second, winning four and losing only two with Hermansville placing fifth.

The final standing at the close of the first half of the schedule is as follows:

DODGERS BOW TO CUBS, 11-2

Root Pitches Classy Game; Chicago Back In Third Place

Brooklyn, July 17. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs moved back into third place today by landing on three Dodger pitchers for 14 hits and an 11-2 victory. Manager Gabby Hartnett, with a pair of doubles, two runs scored and two driven in, and Carl Reynolds, with a triple and two singles, led the attack.

WELLS BEATEN BY BARK RIVER

Steinhauer Allows Only Five Hits; Kleiman Gets Home Run

Bark River, Mich., July 17.—Behind the five hit pitching of Steinhauer, Bark River easily trounced Wells, 11-3, in the first game of the second half of the Delta-Menominee county league.

The locals touched Krasich and Trombly for 15 hits and won easily, scoring three runs each in the first and second innings, two runs in the fourth and seventh and a single in the eighth. Wells scored twice in the fifth and once in the seventh.

Kleiman, Peltier and Courville each got three hits, Kleiman getting a home run for one of his bingles. P. Perle, Wells shortstop, got three of his team's five hits.

Steinhauer was in good form. In addition to giving up but five hits, he struck out 15 Wells batters.

The line score:

BY FREDERICK GARDNER

New York, July 17 (AP)—In one of the broadest buying movements for more than a year, stock market prices bounded upward 1 to better than 7 points today, a number to new peaks for 1939.

The list displayed rising tendencies from the start, with activity much more pronounced than in recent sessions. The rush to climb aboard gained such momentum in the final hour that the ticker tape fell four minutes behind floor transactions. Profit taking shaded quotations at the finish in some cases, but many issues finished near top levels.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 2 full points at 49.9, the biggest advance for any session since June 29, 1938. Transfers of 1,750,600 shares compared with 543,620 last Friday and were the largest since March 31.

No one single news item was credited with the upthrust. Brokers suggested considerable short covering and new speculative and investment purchasing were based mainly on the growing idea business developments for some time have been outdistancing markets. In addition, the belief seemed to be spreading that Europe would escape a disastrous war.

That leading shares were not for sale in volume at quotations in vogue during the past several months was learned by the "shorts" to their sorrow. A tip-off was seen by some bullish forces in the fact that dealings a few weeks ago dwindled to the lowest in about 17 years.

Attracting numerous commission house customers who incline to follow the charts was the ability of the industrial average to push through the resistance level which has been in existence since April.

Among the day's encouraging developments marketwise was a more than expected run-up in this week's estimated steel mill operations. These advanced 6.7 points to 56.4 percent of capacity, more than regaining the holiday recession and establishing a new top mark since last December.

Early figures on last week's freight loadings also indicated total shipments leaped to the best level for the year to date. Helpful, too, were automobile sales and signs retail spending was showing little diminution. Aiding recovery sentiment were prospects of a quick settlement of the General Motors strike and the possibility congress would go home in a few weeks.

Bonds exhibited a burst of strength at the last, with rails noteworthy performers.

The one cloudy spot on the horizon was the indifference of commodities. Wheat at Chicago was unchanged to off 3-8 of a cent a bushel and corn unchanged to up ¼. Cotton was unchanged to 25 cents a bale in arrears.

American securities tilted upward in London. Markets at Amsterdam and Paris were no better than steady.

Lifted fractions to more than 2 points in the curb were Electric Bond & Share, Phoenix Securities, Pittsburgh Forgings, Lockheed, American Cyanamid "B" and Molybdenum. Turnover of 201,000 shares, largest since April 11, compared with 82,000 Friday.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, July 17 (AP)—Stubbornly resisting price declines of almost a cent a bushel at times, the grain market again today put on a show of underlying strength that kept selling in check and erased early losses.

Wheat and corn values suffered losses of as much as 7-8 cent at times, while rye was off about 3-4 cent. Before the close, however, these declines were wiped away. Purchasing that gave the market its resistance was credited to milling interests, to dealers encouraged by the upturn in securities and to the effect of the government price supporting program. Most of the selling was due to favorable weather and to weakness in Liverpool wheat futures, which tumbled 1 to 1 1-8 cents to new all-time lows.

Wheat closed unchanged to 3-8 lower compared with Saturday's finish, July 66 to 65 7-8, September 66½ to 66 5-8; corn unchanged to ¼ higher, July 44 1-8, September 45 3-8; oats unchanged to 1¼ higher; rye unchanged to 1-8 up and lard unchanged to 5 cents higher.

Reports of good rains in the corn belt and cooler and unsettled weather in the spring wheat zone together with a forecast of continued unsettled conditions had a bearish effect in all pits. Hedging in connection with marketing of new wheat also was in evidence.

The 12 principal interior markets received less wheat than a week ago or a year ago but Chicago had 1,004 cars, largest of the season, although much of this was not for sale. Domestic visible supply showed the largest increase of the season, gaining 19,066,000 bushels the past week to 110,727,000 bushels compared with 63,092,000 a year ago. Current stocks are the largest for this time of season since 1933.

An increase in British port stocks and reports of renewed offering of U. S. hard winter under subsidy weakened Liverpool prices, according to cables.

Uncertainties regarding the effect of the corn program, with most interest centered on the amount of old corn which may be removed from the loan, the disposal of this and the loan rates for new corn, tended to restrict selling. Lifting of hedges on 119,000 bushels sold to shippers also was a factor. Need of storage space is expected to have some effect on the extent of farm holding.

Very little selling was in evidence in the oats pit while rye trade was dominated by action of wheat.

New York, July 17 (AP)—Bonds advanced sharply today in the biggest market session in three and one-half months. Rises of two and three points were common throughout the list.

Transactions totalled $7,765,500, face value—the greatest since March 31—compared with $4,954,200 Friday and $1,410,200 Saturday, the smallest Saturday trade since 1918.

The Associated Press averages were up all along the line, with the utilities graph reaching its highest point since September 4, 1937.

Although corporate loans were the feature of the day, heavy transactions in U. S. treasuries served to send the government loans ahead as much as 12-32 of a point. In contrast, foreign government issues weer uneven and pretty much ignored by investors.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the conditions of that certain mortgage dated the 15th day of August, 1935, executed by Simon Sayen, a single man, as mortgagor, to the Land Bank Commissioner, acting pursuant to the provisions of Part 3 of the Act of Congress known as the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act of 1933, as amended (U.S.C. Title 12, Sections 1016-1019), as mortgagee, filed for records in the office of the Register of Deeds of Delta County, Michigan, on the tenth day of September, 1935, recorded in Liber 45 of Mortgages on Pages 553-554 thereof, and which mortgage was thereafter and on the ninth day of May, 1939, by an instrument in writing, duly assigned to the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation, a corporation, of Washington, D. C., and which assignment of mortgage was filed for record in said office of the Register of Deeds of the County of Delta, Michigan, on the twelfth day of May, 1939, recorded in Liber 52 of Mortgages on Pages 63-64.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that said mortgage will be foreclosed, pursuant to power of sale, and the premises therein described as:

The south Half of Southeast Quarter of Section Thirty; also the Northeast Quarter of Northwest Quarter and the Northwest Quarter of Northeast Quarter of Section Thirty-two; all in Township Thirty-nine North, Range Twenty-four West; lying within said County and State will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash by the Sheriff of Delta County at the front door of the Court House in the City of Escanaba in said County and State, on Tuesday, August 29, 1939, at two o'clock P. M. There is due and payable at the date of this notice upon the debt secured by said mortgage, the sum of $1118.14.

Dated May 27, 1939.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

1. Sealed proposals for the construction of a rural electrical distribution system (hereinafter called the "Project") to be financed by a Rural Electrification Administration loan and known as Project Michigan 9020B1 Delta will be received by Alger-Delta Cooperative Electric Association (hereinafter called the "Owner") on or before 9:00 o'clock A. M., Central Standard Time, July 25, 1939, at its office, First National Bank Building, Escanaba, Michigan at which time and place the proposals will be publicly opened and read.

2. The Project will be approximately 165 miles in length and located in Menominee County, in the State of Michigan, all as more fully described in the Plans, Specifications, and Construction Drawings therefor hereinafter referred to.

3. The Plans, Specifications, and Construction Drawings together with all necessary forms and other documents for bidders may be obtained from the Owner, or from the Owner's Engineer, Totz, King and Day, Inc. at the latter's office at No. 1509 Pioneer Bldg., St. Paul, Minnesota, upon payment of $15, or may be examined either at the office of the Owner or of the Owner's Engineer.

4. Bidders will be required to comply with the Instructions to Bidders, which are included in the documents available at the above-mentioned offices, and also with all applicable statutes, regulations, etc., including those pertaining to the licensing of contractors.

5. Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check payable to the order of, or a bidder's bond running in favor of, the Owner in an amount equal to five per cent (5%) of the maximum bid price. In case a proposal is not accepted, or if a proposal is accepted and a Construction Contract is executed and a satisfactory Contractor's Bond is furnished by the successful bidder, the check or bidder's bond will be returned in each instance within a period of 30 days to the bidder furnishing the same.

6. The successful bidder will be required to enter into a Construction Contract with the Owner and to furnish a Contractor's Bond with sureties satisfactory to the Owner and to the Rural Electrification Administration, in a penal sum not less than the maximum Construction Contract price.

7. The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all proposals.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING INFORMATION

Errors in advertisements should be reported immediately. The Daily Press will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion.

All ads are restricted to their proper classification and to the regular Daily Press style of type. The publishers reserve the right to edit or reject any classified advertising copy.

Advertising ordered for irregular insertions takes the one time rate. No ad is taken for less than a basis of three lines. Count six average words to the line. An average word contains six letters.

Accounts unpaid after 20 days will not be granted further credit.

Charged ads will be received by telephone and if paid at the Daily Press office within six days from the first day of insertion cash rates will be allowed.

Ads ordered for three or six times and stopped before expiration will be charged for only the number of times the ad appeared and adjustment made at the rate earned.

The Daily Press makes an earnest effort to keep its advertising columns free of deceptive and dishonest announcements. Readers are requested to report unsatisfactory dealings with any advertiser in these columns.

PLEASE DO NOT ask for information on blind ads. The Daily Press will not disclose the identity of any box number or give any information not contained in the ad itself. A flat charge of 10c will be made for each box number issued.

SCOUT AWARDS MADE IN CAMP

Advancement Program Is Being Held Each Week for Boys

Fourteen awards for achievement in Scouting work were made to the Boy Scouts camping the first week at the Council campsite. A complete program of advancement is being held each week at Camp Red Buck.

The following Scouts received second class awards at the Court of Honor held over the week-end: Edw. Bartels of Troop 33, Joseph Charleboise of Troop 57, Wayne Crebo of Troop 57, Bill Hemes of Troop 57, John Walch of Troop 55, and Roy Williams of Troop 53. The Star award was made to Eugene McMasters of Troop 61, and the Life award was presented to Fernand Charlebois of Troop 33. Merit badges were awarded to Claude Ouelette, Fernand Charlebois and Audin Grimnes of Troop 44. Sam Cassidy of Troop 66 and Jerome McNamara of Troop 61 were also awarded merit badges.

Five patrols of Scouts are enrolled for the week of July 15 to 22 at the Scout camp. A list of Scouts enrolled from the three counties is as follows:

Edmund Erickson Is Elected District League President

Edmund Erickson, Escanaba, was elected president of the upper peninsula district of the Swedish M. E. Epworth League organization at the annual Clear Lake institute of the St. Paul district, Central Northwest conference during the past week, July 10-16.

Other district officers are: First vice president, Helaine Dahlberg, Bark River; second vice president, Beaulah Peterson, Marquette; third vice president, Beatrice Peterson, Escanaba; fourth vice president, Jack Postle, Ironwood; secretary, Alvie Loy, Norway; treasurer, Fred Johannson, Marquette.

It was decided to hold the next year's institute at Clair Lake also.

Rallies will be held at Marquette and Ishpeming during the coming year.

EDITORS END MEETING

Marsuette — A banquet and dance in the Northland hotel Saturday night, attended by 75 persons, concluded the 1939 meeting of the Michigan Associated Press Editorial association, the highlight of which was a tour, Saturday morning, of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company's Cliffs Shaft mine in Ishpeming.

The meeting opened with a luncheon Friday noon with editors and publishers registered from about 30 Michigan newspapers, members of The Associated Press. Friday afternoon some of the guests took fishing trips while others played golf, visited the Marquette prison and went on sightseeing trips. The women had tea at the home of Mrs. Leo G. Brott, East Ohio street.

AUTO THIEVES NABBED

Newberry, Mich. — Two Sault Ste. Marie boys and a girl are back home after a weekend escapade in which they stole an autmobile, and, after abandoning the car when pursued by Michigan state police, spent the night alongside the highway and in an apple orchard.

Matt Mitchell, chief of police in Sault Ste. Marie, said that one of the boys, 14 years of age, admitted at his home today that he and his two youthful companions —the boy 16 and the girl 12 — stole an automobile Saturday and led pursuers into a swamp east of Newberry after leaving the car.

The boy and girl were found at 9:30 tonight by Trooper Arne Maki, of the Newberry state police post; two Sault Ste. Marie police officers, and Frank Generoux, of McMillan, state conservation officer. They were hiding in an orchard on the Carney farm east of McMillan.

Horseshoe Players To Meet Thursday

There will be a meeting of all horseshoe players interested in the formation of a league such as the one last year to be held at the city recreation center on Thursday night beginning at 7 o'clock. Due to the condition of the coutrs, the start of this league has been delayed. However, all courts are now being repaired and will be ready for regular play next week.

In a horseshoe league, four men from one team which last year was allowed a maximum of six members, play four from an opposing team and the team with the most individual single and double wins score a victory in that match. Last year two matches a week were played by each team.

LEGION NAMES NEW OFFICERS

E. L. Moersch Commander of Escanaba Post for Coming Year
